Unfinished Business Paula Egelson, C. Steven Bingham, Barbara B. Howard, 2024-09-01 Unfinished Business A Regional Education Laboratory Retrospective on School Improvement is authored by education professionals formerly employed at SERVE one of the ten US federally funded education research and development laboratories SERVE S region included the following southeastern states Alabama Florida Georgia Mississippi North Carolina and South Carolina The school improvement recollections found in this book are supported by contemporaneous data collected for research and evaluation as well as literature interviews and evidence from former clients and collaborators Each of the chapter authors wrote about a school improvement initiative in which they led or participated in developing Compared to the other nine labs SERVE was heavily field based SERVE s projects and publications focused on school improvement research policy and professional development The work was typically launched in a spirit best described as emergent design Building on extant research and best practice potential clients across the six state region were approached with ideas for educational interventions and evidence to support theories of action It is underscored that improving America s public schools teachers and school administrators is a continuous process involving difficult work It is hoped that this book will offer suggestions to educators about how to implement school improvement including what works and what doesn t and how initiatives can evolve positively over time

ENDORSEMENTS This retrospective on the work done by the SERVE lab serves to underscore the important role education laboratories can play in helping schools improve the systems and processes supporting more equitable learning opportunities and higher student achievement As the authors indicate the work of school improvement is never finished hence it follows that continually trying out well grounded interventions and examining their impacts on leadership teaching and learning is essential to moving improvement science forward Betty Fry Southern Regional Education Board School improvement work needs to be an all hands on deck effort that engages teachers administrators students parents and guardians and stakeholders in meaningful co ownership of helping schools be successful for all students Unfinished Business seeks to examine the work of educational leaders and organizations who have been immersed in extended efforts to both understand and meet the various challenges of educating students By including voices with rich experiences and perspectives and highlighting steps taken to realize successes this book provides insights and lessons learned to reflect upon in considering next steps Bill Sterrett Baylor University What an outstanding book based on thoughtful reflections of practitioners working on improving schools If readers want to get an understanding of federally supported research and development laboratories this is an excellent book on lessons learned Unfinished Business offers important technical concepts in practice such as stakeholder involvement emergent designs interventions implementation sustainability and organizational culture to cite a few but also insightful lessons on results oriented distributed leadership A must read for leaders across the board local state and federal educational agencies Marco Mu oz Jefferson County Schools KY
