- As a wave travels through a medium, it transports energy but does not transport matter in the direction of the wave.
- Transverse waves are waves in a direction (perp to the frequency) and the wave travels longitudinal waves travel through a series of compressions and rarefactions.
- Waves can be described by amplitude, wavelength, frequency, period, and speed.
- As a wave travels through a medium, particles are displaced and return to their original position after the wave passes.
- Electromagnetic waves differ from other types of waves because they do not need a medium to travel through.
- A medium is any substance or space, you would need to know the medium properties to know how the wave travels.
- As the frequency increases, the wavelength decreases and vice versa. You can remember this relationship.
- As frequency increases, the wavelength decreases and vice versa.
- As a wave travels through a medium, the particles oscillate perpendicular to the direction of the wave.
