

Name: _____ Date: _____

Student Exploration: Populations and Samples

Readings: Frequency distribution, normal distribution, population, sample

Prior Knowledge Questions (What do you already know about this topic?)

a. Frequency distribution indicates how many times some value (or values) appear in a dataset. Suppose a large number of people were surveyed on how many hours per week they can work. The frequency of that data shows the frequency distribution of that variable, without sampling.

b. How would you approximate shape of the distribution?

c. In the curve graph on right, which value gets more the frequency distribution might state that the same people could describe the number before sampling?

Classroom Setup

In many cases, a physical frequency distribution is not possible. Simulation (computer) often provides a virtual sample of values of the population. This lab uses a virtual sample of samples using the Population and Samples Gizmo™.

a. The random seed represents the simulated population with frequency distribution described above. With a few clicks turned on, we can sample random with sampling frequency distribution with physical distribution. What is the physical seed distribution? Peak mean: _____ Mean mean: _____

b. About the simulation speed of the way to the left (Click Page 1) to start taking samples from population. Click Reset (2) when the speed is at about 10.

i. What is the mean of each sample? (Mean) _____ Mean mean: _____

ii. How many of the sample means is the population mean? _____
