Check List	Outstanding	Excellent	Great
Setting the Scene	All the important information and lots of background information is given in a way that interests the reader.	The information written explains in detail who, what, where, when and why so the reader understands.	The setting includes all the information about who, what, where, when and why.	Tr ab on
Events	Events are included in chronological order that add interest and impact. The writing interests the reader because it includes personal comments.	Events are retold in time order and the recount includes more detailed information about the more interesting events.	Events are retold in time order and equal amount is written for each event.	Ev on th
Language	The writing has different sentence openings, different sentence lengths and uses lots of different linking words. It has lots of powerful adjectives and adverbs.	The recount is written in the past tense, with powerful adjectives, verbs (like I glimpsed) and connectives like eventually , meanwhile ...	The recount is written in the past tense and uses some linking words like first , later , soon , finally . The writing has some adjectives and action verbs.	Tr po lin —
Closing Statement	The closing statement is also a good summary of parts of the recount and ends the recount well.	The closing statement is detailed and tries to review what has been written in the recount.	An ending of the recount is written. It does not include a lot of detail, but does include some reviewing of the events.	Tr ov ha
Punctuation	Full stops, capital letters, commas, exclamation marks and question marks are all used and are all in the correct places. Reported speech may be used.	Full stops, capital letters, commas, exclamation marks and question marks are used. Most are in the right place.	Full stops, capital letters and exclamation marks are used although they may not be in the right place. A few may be missing.	Fu ha th

Languaging Myths and Realities Qianqian Zhang-Wu, 2021-11-15

Higher education institutions in Anglophone countries often rely on standardized English language proficiency exams to assess the linguistic capabilities of their multilingual international students. However, there is often a mismatch between these scores and the initial experiences of international students in both academic and social contexts. Drawing on a digital ethnography of Chinese international students' first semester languaging practices, this book examines their challenges, needs, and successes on their initial languaging journeys in higher education. It analyzes how they use their rich multilingual and multi-modal communicative repertoires to facilitate languaging across contexts in order to suggest how university support systems might better serve the needs of multilingual international students. Leading Student Assessment Charles F.

Webber, Judy L. Lupart, 2011-09-18 This book presents a new and refreshing look at student assessment from the perspective of leading educational theorists, researchers, and practitioners. The authors call for boundary-breaking assessment that reflects clear understandings of the purposes of assessment, a balance of assessment creativity and realism, the ability to detect solutions for assessment challenges, and the capacity to question and imagine assessment alternatives. The 14 chapters offer school and district educators, policy makers, researchers, and university teacher preparation faculty with a comprehensive current overview of the state and art of student assessment. Key questions are posed about assessment and critical challenges are presented along with sound evidence-based solutions. Student assessment is analyzed in terms of its relationship with classroom instructional practices and large-scale testing programs. Formative and summative assessments are compared and contrasted. The role of psychological assessment in informing classroom practices is profiled along with the need for student voice in fair assessment practices. Readers will be challenged to consider the ecology of student assessment that is the impact of assessment in classrooms and schools through to the macro level of globalized societies. The underpinning values and assumptions of student assessment are highlighted. Finally, a rationale is offered for reconceptualizing and redefining assessment. Literacy for the 21st Century Gail Tompkins, Rod Campbell, David

Green, Carol Smith, 2014-08-01 Literacy for the 21st Century 2e gives students the strategies and ability to teach literacy effectively in Australian classrooms. Linking the theory and research to classroom practice and with a greater emphasis on the use of digital literacies, students will gain a practical understanding of teaching reading and writing.
