Publishers Weekly: Growing up an Orthodox Jew in Brooklyn, Hélène Aylon spent her Friday nights in a sea of extended family as the Sabbath candles flickered. Passionate about art, she dreamt of escaping the strict secular world of her youth but instead married a rabbi and became a mother of two. Then her world was split apart when her husband was diagnosed with cancer and Aylon found herself widowed at thirty. Free to explore both her own soul and the changing world around her, Aylon sought a home in the burgeoning environmental art scene of the 1970s, creating transgressive works that explore identity, women's bodies, the environment, disarmament and the notion of God. Finally, she dares to ask of Judaism: Where are the women? With many examples of her work included within Whatever is Contained is an arresting tale of uncommon courage, intelligence and wit following Aylon's search for truth in art and the links between feminism and Judaism. Gail Levin, author of Lee Krasner: A Biography and Becoming Judy Chicago. Manure Peggy Godwin, 2023-04-11 This is not a once upon a time story with fire breathing dragons, aliens from outer space nor giants climbing down beanstalks. This is a real story complete with bratty brothers, adults who never grew up and some very ordinary everyday heroes. And oh yes, manure. There's no mistaking it. If you see it, smell it or step in it, you know it. Call it poop, dung, do do, cow pies, scat, turds or as your grandmother might politely say, excrement, bowel movement, feces or defecation, there's only one word for it: Yuck. Even something as disgusting as manure can take on magical qualities that lead to adventures in your own backyard. In the summer of 1942 while the world was at war, Jim Brown Godwin found himself covered from head to toe in manure. This is his story: how he got there, what he did and most importantly, how he got out.
