participated for their students seeking higher education. Students at the University were selected to participate and numerous letters were sent to high school and local groups. Finally, the 1996 participants were invited through a final recruitment letter that stated the selection was based on their grade and school status.

However, in mid-early 1970s, mainstream American mainstreamers began to turn their backs on the party and the movement. In 1972, all American mainstream press published a story by a mainstream writer, who was the president of the American Psychological Association, that the American Psychological Association was not a part of the movement. The story was published in the Washington Post, the largest newspaper in the country. It was a major blow to the movement.
