Snapper....Confessions of a News of the World Photographer Paul Barker, 2011 The day that the closure of the News of the World was announced will forever be regarded as the saddest in the entire history of journalism Paul Barker was one of the handful of freelance photographers used on a full time basis by the paper so when it came the news was a devastating bombshell After over 20 years working as a photojournalist with 12 of those on the News of the World he has been uniquely placed to give an insight into what it was like to work on a Sunday tabloid From photography tips to getting into events without a pass Snapper provides a fantastic and highly amusing window into the world of a national newspaper photographer Rather than an expose into the phone hacking scandal that finally engulfed the paper Snapper Confessions of a News of the World Photographer is a celebration of some of its finest moments Recounted in a personal and engaging style it is a series of often hilarious and sometimes heartbreaking anecdotes It chronicles some of the best known as well as some of the more obscure stories covered by what many have come to regard as the world's greatest newspaper Gerard Hardy's Misfortune Dorothy Johnston, 2019-10-27 According to local legend the historic Royal hotel in the Australian coastal town of Queenscliff is haunted Having served as both a mental asylum and a morgue in the early days it could hardly fail to be but a bizarre murder in the hotel's basement puts a decidedly eerie spin on things The victim is an academic obsessed with spiritualism the tarot and the town's most famous literary resident Henry Handel Richardson From the outset the local knowledge and unorthodox methods of Queenscliff's police officers Chris Blackie and Anthea Merritt are ridiculed by the bull-necked Detective Inspector Masterson from Geelong's CIU And yet hard-nosed police investigation practices seem ill-equipped to counter the otherworldly influences at play What DI Masterson believes is an open and shut case turns out to be anything but
