Gentrification: A Working-Class Perspective Dr Kirsteen Paton, 2014-10-28 Focusing on the working class experience of gentrification this book re examines the enduring relationship between class and the urban Class is so clearly articulated in the urban from the housing crisis to the London Riots to the evocation of housing estates as the emblem of Broken Britain Gentrification is often presented to a moral and market antidote to such urban ills deeply institutionalised as regeneration and targeted at areas which have suffered from disinvestment or are defined by lack Gentrification is no longer a peripheral neighbourhood process it is policy it is widespread it is everyday Yet comparative to this depth and breadth we know little about what it is like to live with gentrification at the everyday level Sociological studies have focused on lifestyles of the middle classes and the working class experience is either omitted or they are assumed to be victims Hitherto this is all that has been offered This book engages with these issues and reconnects class and the urban through an ethnographically detailed analysis of a neighbourhood undergoing gentrification which historicises class formation critiques policy processes and offers a new sociological insight into gentrification from the perspective of working class residents This ethnography of everyday working class neighbourhood life in the UK serves to challenge denigrated depictions which are used to justify the use of gentrification based restructuring By exploring the relationship between urban processes and working class communities via gentrification it reveals the hidden rewards as well as the hidden injuries of class in post industrial neighbourhoods In doing so it provides a comprehensive sociology of gentrification revealing not only how gentrification leads to the displacement of the working class in physical terms but how it is actively used within urban policy to culturally displace the working class subject and traditional ways of life in an attempt to create the neoliberal subject It reveals the novel forms of displacement this causes and develops an original typology of displacement from this The book also demonstrates that gentrification is not always a zero sum game for working class residents who at times rework gentrification processes on their own terms for their own gains

Positive Youth Development, Mental Health, and Psychological Well-Being in Diverse Youth Nora Wiium, Laura Ferrer-Wreder, Jennifer E. Lansford, Lene Arnett Jensen, 2023-06-15 In this Research Topic, our aim is to examine how personal resources related to competencies, skills, and self-perception, as well as environmental, contextual, and relational features of the social contexts of diverse youth, directly or indirectly, are important to mental health and psychological well-being. As previous research on young people has mainly focused on youth's weaknesses rather than their strengths, our use of Positive Youth Development (PYD) in working with culturally diverse youth and their well-being in this Research Topic is novel. We invite contributions from researchers that were initially presented their papers in a meeting that was held by research partners of the Cross National Project on Positive Youth Development (CN PYD) and who represent an international and multidisciplinary panel of experts on PYD. The CN PYD was initiated in 2014 at the University of Bergen and has an ongoing data collection that involves approximately 10,000 minority and majority youth and emerging adults, ages 16 to 29, living in Africa, Asia, Australia, Europe, New Zealand, and South America. CN PYD uses a strengths-based approach to the conceptualization of youth as resources and agentic, which is in opposition to the view of the developmental period of adolescence as being a period inherently fraught with problems and risks. The goal of the cross-national project is to assess personal strengths and contextual resources, considering how these resources come together to facilitate youth thriving and to document how young people make positive and valued contributions to themselves and others. We also advance research on the complex interplay between personal and contextual resources and their connections with risk behaviors and problems, in essence, taking a perspective of the whole child, both in terms of strengths and problems.
