WORKSHEET

Global Population Distribution

Global population distribution shows where people live and how they live. It is influenced by many factors.

Population Density

- Population density is the number of people living in a given area.
- It is measured in people per square kilometre.
- It is calculated by dividing the total population by the total area.
- It is a measure of how crowded an area is.
- It is a measure of how many people live in a given area.

Population Density and Distribution

Some areas of the world are densely populated (crowded), while others are sparsely populated (empty). This is due to many factors.

Factors influencing where people live:

Physical factors: climate, relief, accessibility, economic activities and services, environment.

Physical Factors

Human Factors

Population density is the number of people living in a given area.

It is measured in people per square kilometre.
