Abstracts 150: Some questions you may encounter before an interview

- The first step in the process of creating a new product is to identify a market need. This is often done through market research, which involves gathering information about the target market and its needs. Once a market need has been identified, the next step is to develop a concept for a product that meets that need. This is often done through brainstorming and sketching. Once a concept has been developed, the next step is to create a prototype. This is often done using 3D printing or other manufacturing techniques. Once a prototype has been created, the next step is to test the product. This is often done through user testing, which involves having a group of people use the product and provide feedback. Once feedback has been received, the next step is to refine the product. This is often done through iterative design, which involves making small changes to the product and testing them. Once the product has been refined, the next step is to launch the product. This is often done through a marketing campaign, which involves promoting the product to the target market.
