The Routledge Handbook of Disability Arts, Culture, and Media Bree Hadley, Donna McDonald, 2018-12-07. In the last 30 years, a distinctive intersection between disability studies including disability rights, advocacy, disability rights activism and disability law and disability arts, culture and media studies has developed. The two fields have worked in tandem to offer critique of representations of disability in dominant cultural systems, institutions, discourses and architecture and develop provocative new representations of what it means to be disabled. Divided into 5 sections: Disability Identity and Representation, Inclusion, Wellbeing and Whole of life Experience, Access, Artistry and Audiences, Practices, Politics and the Public Sphere, Activism, Adaptation and Alternative Futures, this handbook brings disability arts, disability culture and disability media studies traditionally treated separately in publications in the field together for the first time. It provides scholars, graduate students, upper level undergraduate students and others interested in the disability rights agenda with a broad based, practical and accessible introduction to key debates in the field of disability art, culture and media studies. An internationally recognised selection of authors from around the world come together to articulate the theories, issues, interests and practices that have come to define the field. Most critically, this book includes commentaries that forecast the pressing present and future concerns for the field as scholars, advocates, activists and artists work to make a more inclusive society a reality.

global South The book is divided into eight sections Setting the Scene Decolonising Disability Studies Postcolonial Theory Inclusive Development Postcolonial Disability Studies and Disability Activism Postcolonial Disability and Childhood Studies Postcolonial Disability Studies and Education Postcolonial Disability Studies Gender Race and Religion Conclusion And comprised of 27 newly written chapters this book leads with postcolonial perspectives closely followed by an engagement with critical disability studies with the explicit aim of foregrounding these contributions pulling them in from the edges of empirical and theoretical work where they often reside in mainstream academic literature The book will be of interest to all scholars and students of disability studies and postcolonial studies as well as those working in sociology literature and development studies Routledge Handbook of Disability Law and Human Rights Peter Blanck, Eilíonóir Flynn, 2016-07-07

Animated Film and Disability Slava Greenberg, 2023-02-07 While many live action films portray disability as a spectacle, crip animation a genre of animated films that celebrates disabled people's lived experiences uses a variety of techniques like clay animation puppets pixilation and computer generated animation to represent the inner worlds of people with disabilities. Crip animation has the potential to challenge the ableist gaze and immerse viewers in an alternative bodily experience. In Animated Film and Disability Slava Greenberg analyzes over 30 animated works about disabilities including Rocks in My Pockets An Eyeful of Sound and A Shift in Perception. He considers the ableism of live action cinematography the involvement of filmmakers with disabilities in the production process and the evocation of the spectators senses of sight and hearing consequently subverting traditional spectatorship and listenership hierarchies. In addition Greenberg explores physical and sensory accessibility in theaters and suggests new ways to accommodate cinematic screenings. Offering an introduction to disability studies and crip theory for film media and animation scholars Animated Film and Disability demonstrates that crip animation has the power to breach the spectator's comfort evoking awareness of their own bodies and in certain cases their social privileges.
