Use the following information and graph to answer question 25.

A reading of research in investigating immune response in patients exposed to a specific pathogen. The graph below shows the concentration of a pathogen antibody in the bloodstream produced during the process of acquired immunity. One curve shows the primary immune response (after the first exposure to the pathogen), and the other curve shows the secondary immune response (after the second exposure to the pathogen).

A vaccine often serves as the first exposure to a pathogen and triggers the body's primary immune response. Some vaccines contain weakened or inactive pathogens. Other vaccines contain highly similar but nonpathogenic toxins.

25. Describe two benefits of receiving a vaccine, such as the polio vaccine, in protecting the body against disease, and include data from the graph to support each benefit. Describe in the space provided in your answer document all points.
