Zentall, 2013-12-02 Prepared as a tribute to Donald A Riley the essays that appear here are representative of a research area that has loosely been classified as animal cognition a categorization that reflects a functionalist philosophy that was prevalent in Riley's laboratory and that many of his students absorbed According to this philosophy it is acceptable to hypothesize that an animal might engage in complex processing of information as long as one can operationalize evidence for such a process and the hypothesis can be presented in the context of testable predictions that can differentiate it from other mechanisms The contributions to this volume represent the three most important areas of research in animal cognition stimulus representation memory processes and perceptual processes although current research has considerably blurred these distinctions Records of the Proceedings and Printed Papers of the Parliament Australia.
