Introduction

Qualitative research involves an interpretive, naturalistic approach to the world which is studying things in their natural settings and attempting to make sense of or interpret, phenomena in terms of the meanings people bring to them (Denzin & Lincoln, 2005). Creswell \(2007\) categorizes various approaches into narrative research, phenomenology, ethnography, grounded theory, and case studies in qualitative inquiry. Case study research, most often associated with qualitative inquiry has gained significance as an effective approach to investigate complex issues in real-world settings. Studies have been done using this approach in a wide range of disciplines, especially in social sciences.

Case study research, as an approach for methodological exploration, has a long-standing history with the origins being attributed to the studies done in the disciplines of anthropology and social sciences in the early twentieth century (Harrison, Birks, Franklin, & Mills, 2017; Johansson, 2003). Much of the present day perspective that Johansson \(2003\) refers to as the second generation of case studies is influenced by the work of Robert Yin, Sharan Merriam, and Robert Stake (Yazan, 2015). Case studies of the use of agricultural biotechnologies to meet the needs of smallholders in developing countries

Ruane, J., Mba, C., Boettcher, P., Koskela, J., Mair, G., Ramasamy, S., 2023-12-18 There are a wide range of biotechnologies available and many of them have been and are currently being used in many situations and sectors worldwide to solve the myriad problems that farmers are facing. Documentation of the application of agricultural biotechnologies for smallholders is an important part of FAO's role in facilitating knowledge sharing regarding agricultural biotechnologies. This document synthesizes a unique series of 15 case studies where agricultural biotechnologies were used to serve the needs of smallholders in developing countries. The introduction chapter provides an overall background and objectives of the compilation of case studies. The case studies cover different regions, production systems, species and underlying socioeconomic conditions in the crop, livestock and aquaculture fisheries sectors. The biotechnologies covered include some that are considered quite traditional such as artificial insemination as well as other more modern ones such as the use of DNA based diagnostics. The case studies were prepared by scientists and researchers who were directly involved in the initiatives and the authors aimed to provide the background, achievements, obstacles, challenges and lessons learned from each case study. The final chapter of the document provides a summary overview of the challenges, results and lessons learned from the 15 case studies.
