Evidence-Based Practices to Reduce Falls and Fall-Related Injuries Among Older Adults Cassandra W. Frieson, Maw Pin Tan, Marcia G. Ory, Matthew Lee Smith, 2018-09-20 Falls and fall related injuries among older adults have emerged as serious global health concerns which place a burden on individuals their families and greater society As fall incidence rates increase alongside our globally aging population fall related mortality hospitalizations and costs are reaching never seen before heights Because falls occur in clinical and community settings additional efforts are needed to understand the intrinsic and extrinsic factors that cause falls among older adults effective strategies to reduce fall related risk and the role of various professionals in interventions and efforts to prevent falls e g nurses physicians physical therapists occupational therapists health educators social workers economists policy makers As such this Research Topic sought articles that described interventions at the clinical community and or policy level to prevent falls and related risk factors Preference was given to articles related to multi factorial evidence based interventions in clinical e g hospitals long term care facilities skilled nursing facilities residential facilities and community e g senior centers recreation facilities faith based organizations settings However articles related to public health indicators and social determinants related to falls were also included based on their direct implications for evidence based interventions and best practices

Evidence-Based Programming for Older Adults Marcia G. Ory, Matthew Lee Smith, 2015-06-17 There is increased world wide concern about the impact of multiple chronic conditions especially among the rapidly aging population Simultaneously over the past decade there has been an emergence of state wide and national initiatives to reduce the burden of chronic conditions that draw upon the translation of evidence based programs EBP into community practice Yet little has been written about the national and international implementation dissemination and sustainability of such programs This Research Topic features articles about EBPs for older adults including a range of articles that focus on the infrastructure needed to widely disseminate EBP as well as individual participant impacts on physical mental and social aspects of health and well being Using a pragmatic research perspective this Research Topic will advance knowledge that aims to enhance practice inform policy and build systems of support and delivery in regard to the reach effectiveness adoption implementation and maintenance of evidence based interventions for older adults The focus is on knowledge transfer rather than knowledge generation but with a dual emphasis on the dissemination and sustainability of EBP that have been tested and shown effective as well as the adaptation of practice based interventions into evidence based programs This Research Topic draws upon grand scale efforts to deliver these programs and include both U S as well as international examples Commentaries discuss processes in the development and measurement of EBP and reflect perspectives from program developers and major national and regional funders of EBP as well as professionals and practitioners in the field The full length articles focus on four major programmatic areas 1 chronic disease self management programs 2 fall prevention programs 3 general wellness and physical activity programs and 4 mental health programs Additionally articles are included to discuss cross cutting issues related to building partnerships and the research infrastructure for the implementation evaluation and dissemination of evidence based programming The intent of this Research Topic is to enhance practice inform policy and build systems of support and delivery for EBP It is written for a diverse audience and contains practical implications and recommendations for introducing delivering and sustaining EBP in a multitude of settings
