Data: Met with MO in 2 hour group session. Used the large conference room in 1A side of building to provide a controlled environment. Reviewed social behavior goals and MO was easily distracted having extreme difficulty completing task of stating current goals and self evaluation on achieving goals.

MO left room and I shadowed her into the hallway. MO engaged in 1:1 conversation with me about an art project. I was able to redirect MO back to room using art as an incentive. Once we returned to the room MO was able to draw on the craft paper and participate in the goal sharing portion of group. Frequent redirection was required using verbal cues to bring about proper participation in Group topic discussion.

Assessment: MO had extreme difficulty initially adjusting and settling into the daily routine. Using the arts focus was brought about to a participation level for a consistent 10 minute time frame. When MO showed signs of another big distraction redirection to writing topics on the white board helped to keep her focused and participating for an additional 15 minutes. This was consistent with the ADHD (moderate) and Bi-polar diagnosis.

Plan: Continue to work on focus and attention. Continue to use art while seated to have an outlet for her energy. Continue to use verbal prompts to redirect as well as use drawing materials while seated as an outlet for her energy. Work to achieve 10 to 15 minute time frames of consistent focus and participation of task at hand 3 times per group session 5 times per week.

The Young Parenthood Program Paul Florsheim, 2014 The rate of young unwed couples and teens having children is increasing and many of these couples choose to co parent children rather than to marry and remain in a relationship Young parents are at risk for engaging in dysfunctional parenting practices and intimate partner violence and face additional challenges on top of their own developmental struggles Social workers and other mental health services providers can play a role in this process by supporting the interpersonal development of young couples who are at risk for intimate partner violence child abuse neglect and paternal disengagement Unfortunately many professionals lack formalized training in this area and there are few programs available to give the necessary support The Young Parenthood Program YPP was designed and launched in order to meet this need YPP is a brief program 12 14 sessions initiated prior to childbirth when both parents are more willing and able to participate in co parent counseling The program is intended to teach the young couple a basic set of interpersonal communication and problem solving skills to provide a foundation for a co parenting model for raising their child Clinical trials have indicated that couples who participated in YPP demonstrated better relationship skills lower rates of intimate partner violence IPV less paternal disengagement and more positive parenting behavior among young fathers The importance and challenges of working with young fathers who are reluctant to engage and participate is emphasized throughout this proposed guide. The guide is designed to help social workers and practitioners by offering a solution oriented approach to the challenges of co parenting among adolescents and young adults. This practitioner's guide would expand the training materials that Florsheim and his colleagues have developed. In addition to the manual itself the authors are developing a CEU module to be hosted by the University of Wisconsin Milwaukee to try to reach into practitioner markets and encourage the use of the program.
