Henley,2024-03-26 Although this is a clinical text it is also more a conversation than a book It is a means of sharing the work of artists most of whom have varying degrees of special needs It emphasizes that handicapping conditions do not constitute a barrier for creating therapeutically meaningful art The precepts of Edith Kramer focus on subtly suggesting media content or techniques all without interfering with the artist s preferences This intervention came to be known as the Third Hand where the artist in therapy is free to accept reject or ignore the therapist s suggestions The case vignettes describe how aesthetic richness is also illustrative of the uniqueness of clients clinical stories with the artists emotional or behavioral challenges overcoming and even benefiting by their conditions The work of early pioneers who influenced Kramer s illustrate how her own analytical methods later shaped her approach The format in this book also questions the author as being the ultimate authority by posing questions to the reader says a kind of dialogue that emphasizes there are no absolutes in art behavioral science or therapy While espousing Kramer s and his own ideas Henley also includes those of other art therapists who contribute their own expertise in the hope that the analyses will be enriched from multiple perspectives Dr Henley describes how her therapeutic interventions were debated during their many years of collegial interaction By describing Kramer s early influences and personal art history he describes how Kramer s interventions helped innumerable clients and trained hundreds of student therapists These facets will hopefully enable creative arts therapists to implement her patented artist centered interventions The processes and artistic outcomes will lead the way guiding the reader toward the uses of the Third Hand and hopefully bring alive the uniqueness of these special artists stories

The Sensory Modes of Animal Rhetorics Alex C. Parrish,2021-07-14 The Sensory Modes of Animal Rhetorics A Hoot in the Light presents the latest research in animal perception and cognition in the context of rhetorical theory Alex C Parrish explores the science of animal signaling that shows human and nonhuman animals share similar rhetorical strategies such as communicating to manipulate or persuade which suggests the vast impact sensory modalities have on communication in nature The book demonstrates new ways of seeing humans and how we have separated ourselves from and subjectified the animal rhetor This type of cross species study allows us to trace the origins of our own persuasive behaviors providing a deeper and more inclusive history of rhetoric than ever before
