That's why in this book you'll find two types of short stories. Some are made by me and some are made by an AI. For every short story firstly you will find the text written by me and immediately after you will find another text with the same title but written by the AI. The latter are based on the text by me where the AI decided to keep the theme setting problem at hand or whatever the program wanted in each case. I am responsible for the quality of my stories. You can and should criticize me. After all we're talking about one of the first literary projects that I publish and I'm aware that I won't win a Nobel Prize. But what about the quality of the stories written by the AI? Read them, fabricate opinions. That's what this experiment is about. Obviously I have my own opinion but I won't talk about it so it doesn't change yours. You can find me on the main social medias and reach out maybe our opinions will concur.

The Architecture of Space-Time in the Novels of Jane Austen Ruta Baublyté Kaufmann, 2018-07-05 This book argues that there are recurrent spatiotemporal patterns and structures in six Jane Austen novels which constitute a source of enduring if unconscious pleasure. More precisely the book contends that there are overlapping natural and cultural cycles which co-exist in a constantly transmuting space-time and which are counterpointed with the linearity of pivotal events that drive the plot forwards. This work examines the psychological relations to these space-time patterns of the characters principally the heroines focusing on the transformations of their emotional states which prompt linear leaps.

Fate and Freedom in the Novels of David Adams Richards Sara MacDonald, Barry Craig, 2017-05-04 This book explores the understanding of freedom developed in the later novels of celebrated Canadian author David Adams Richards. Many reviewers highlight two interconnected features in Richards' novels: a seemingly rigid determinism of setting and sociodemographics and a resulting hopelessness. In contrast, Richards describes the quest of human life and the purpose of his novels as a search for freedom. This book explores the account of freedom that is developed through the course of four of Richards's works: The Friends of Meager Fortune, Mercy Among the Children, The Lost Highway, and Crimes Against My Brother. Following the Augustinian thread that informs Richards's writing, we argue that rather than presenting an understanding of human life that is bleak or hopeless, Richards instead reveals an argument wherein one's happiness and freedom is found in the midst of love.

Cormac McCarthy's Western Novels Barclay Owens, 2000-07-01 In the continuing redefinition of the American West, few recent writers have left a mark as indelible as Cormac McCarthy. A favorite subject of critics and fans alike, despite or perhaps because of his avoidance of public appearances, the man is known solely through his writing. Thanks to his early work, he is most often associated with a bleak vision of humanity grounded in a belief in man's primordial aggressiveness. McCarthy scholar Barclay Owens has written the first book to concentrate exclusively on McCarthy's acclaimed western novels: Blood Meridian, National Book Award winner All the Pretty Horses, The Crossing, and Cities of the Plain. In a thought-provoking analysis, he explores the differences between Blood Meridian and the Border Trilogy novels and shows how those differences reflect changing conditions in contemporary American culture. Owens captures both Blood Meridian's wanton violence and the Border Trilogy's fond remembrance of the Old West. He shows how this dramatic shift from atavistic brutality to nostalgic Americana suggests that McCarthy has finally given his readers what they most want: the stuff of their mythic dreams. Owens's study is both an incisive look at one of our most important and demanding authors and a penetrating analysis of violence and myth in American culture. Fans of McCarthy's work will find much to consider for ongoing discussions of this influential body of work.

The Sultan's Seal: A Novel (Kamil Pasha Novels) Jenny White, 2007-02-17 The body of a young Englishwoman washes up in Istanbul, wearing a pendant inscribed with the seal of the deposed sultan. The death resembles the unsolved murder of another Englishwoman ten years before. A magistrate in the new secular courts, Kamil Pasha, sets out to find the killer, but his dispassionate belief in science and modernity is shaken by betrayal and widening danger. In a mystical voice, a young Muslim woman recounts her own relationship with one of the dead women and with the suspected killer. Were these political murders involving the palace or crimes of personal passion? Rich in sensuous detail, this novel brilliantly captures the political and social upheavals of the waning Ottoman Empire and the contradictory desires of the human soul.

Border Politics in Novels by European Women in Translation Pam Morris, 2024-09-19 Is conflict inherent to the politics of borders Recent global events erupting from national religious class racial and gender boundaries would suggest it is From the inhumanity of post Brexit British immigration policy to the violent suppression of women s freedom in Iran to Russia s territorial invasion of Ukraine and most immediately to the violent conflagration engulfing Palestine border hostilities seem everywhere characterised by fearful and toxic intolerance of what is deemed other This book examines the writing of award winning European novelists to suggest an alternative perspective one that redresses time sanctioned hierarchies of mind over body of ideals over physical reality It explores novelistic representations of power war sacrifice heroism national history and identity all issues more conventionally viewed within a male consensus The fiction offers a cultural and imaginative response to border conflicts of all kinds ethical bodily religious and geographical often drawing upon the writers own personal experience of threatening divisions Examining works by Virginia Woolf Jenny Erpenbeck Olga Tokarczuk Herta and Paul Auster Anna Burns Chika Unigwe Maylis de Laet Magda Szabó Elena Ferranti Alki Zei Elif Shafak and Oksana Zabuzhko it uses an integrated interdisciplinary approach to combine literary readings with detailed historical and political understanding of cultural context Coming from many different cultures and histories these writers speak a common condemnation of all hierarchies of worth and of exceptionalist identities whether sanctified by religion nature or tradition Morris shows how their stories read here in translation also articulate a strikingly unified vision of a radical ecological understanding of human relations based on physical continuity and co existence rather than borders dividing an idealised us from a denigrated them

English Novel Hist 1895-1920 David Trotter, 2022-02-22 First Published in 1993 Written specifically for students and assuming no prior knowledge of the subject David Trotter s The English Novel in History 1895-1920 provides the first detailed and fully comprehensive analysis of early twentieth century English fiction Whereas all previous studies have been rigorously selective Trotter looks at over 140 novelists across the whole spectrum of fiction from the innovations of Joyce s Ulysses through to popular mass market genres such as detective stories and spy thrillers By examining the novels in both stylistic and historical terms David Trotter looks at the ways in which writers responded to contemporary preoccupations such as the spectacle of consumption and the growth of suburbia or to anxieties about the decline of Empire racial degeneration and sexual anarchy He also challenges the view that literature of the period can be interpreted as a neat procession from realism to Modernism
