November 2019 Monthly Current Affairs with MCQs for Competitive Exams Disha Experts, 2019-10-21 The Political Economy of the 2014-2020 Common Agricultural Policy Johan F.M. Swinnen, 2015-07-30 After five years of debates, consultations and negotiations, the European institutions reached an agreement in 2013 on the Common Agricultural Policy (CAP) for the 2014-2020 period. The outcome has major implications for the EU's budget and farmers' incomes but also for Europe's environment, its contribution to global climate change and to food security in the EU and in the world. It was decided to spend more than 400 billion during the rest of the decade on the CAP. The official claims are that the new CAP will take better account of society's expectations and lead to far-reaching changes by making subsidies fairer and greener and making the CAP more efficient. It is also asserted that the CAP will play a key part in achieving the overall objective of promoting smart, sustainable and inclusive growth. However, there is significant scepticism about these claims and disappointment with the outcome of the decision making, the first in which the European Parliament was involved under the co-decision procedure. In contrast to earlier reforms where more substantive changes were made to the CAP, the factors that induced the policy discussions in 2008-13 and those that influenced the decision making did not reinforce each other. On the contrary, they sometimes counteracted one another, yielding an imperfect storm as it were, resulting in more status quo and fewer changes. This book discusses the outcome of the decision making and the factors that influenced the policy choices and decisions. It brings together contributions from leading academics from various disciplines and policy makers and key participants in the process from the European Commission and the European Parliament.

clarified within existing competition rules how to assess a right owner's specific unilateral practices. In a series of cases the EU courts have established the exceptional circumstances in which the right owner's refusal to license might be considered as an infringement of EU competition rules. In general, Chinese competition law has been modelled after the EU competition rules. This book firstly examines the EU approaches on dominant undertakings' refusal to license intellectual property rights and the follow-on pricing issue and then explores to what extent the EU model could contribute to China's anti-monopoly practice.

A Fair Deal on Talent - Fostering Just Migration Governance Bertelsmann Stiftung, 2015-05-12. If well managed, migration generates benefits for migrants, their countries of origin and the countries they settle in. For migrants, it can help them expand their skill sets and improve their standard of living. For destination countries, it can alleviate demographic pressures and foster cultural diversity. For origin countries, it can bring benefits associated with remittances and knowledge transfers. However, in reality, these benefits are rarely achieved as migration policy failures frequently lead to suboptimal or even negative outcomes. Realizing the full potential of migration therefore demands we foster a paradigm shift toward the fair management of migration. Fair migration is driven by the desire to achieve a triple win for migrants, destination countries and origin countries. In addition to outlining the key challenges and opportunities associated with fair migration, this volume examines the good practices of a variety of countries and institutions which highlight aspects of fair migration. The volume concludes with policy recommendations for effective and fair migration policymaking at the national and international levels. As a conceptual and empirical contribution to both national and international debates on managing migration, this volume aims to enrich discussions among policymakers, business leaders, civil society actors and scholars alike.

The UK Regional-National Economic Problem Philip McCann, 2016-03-10. In recent years, the United Kingdom has become a more and more divided society with inequality between the regions as marked as it has ever been. In a landmark analysis of the current state of Britain's regional development, Philip McCann utilises current statistics, examines historical trends and makes pertinent international comparisons to assess the state of the nation. The UK Regional-National Economic Problem brings attention to the highly centralised top-down governance structure that the UK deploys and demonstrates that it is less than ideally placed to rectify these inequalities. The North-South divide in the UK has never been greater and the rising inequalities are evident in almost all aspects of the economy, including productivity, incomes, employment status and wealth. Whilst the traditional economic dominance of London and its hinterland has continued along with relative resilience in the South West of England and Scotland, in contrast, the Midlands, the North of England, Northern Ireland and Wales lag behind by most measures of prosperity. This inequality is greatly limiting national economic performance and the fact that Britain has a below-average standard of living by European and OECD terms has been ignored. The UK's economic and governance inequality is unlikely to be fundamentally rebalanced by the current governance and connectivity trends, although this definitive study suggests that some areas of improvement are possible if they are well implemented. This pivotal analysis is essential reading for postgraduate students in economics and urban studies as well as researchers and policy makers in local and central government The Commons in an Age of Uncertainty Franklin Obeng-Odoom, 2020-11-03 In the last two hundred years the earth has increasingly become the private property of a few classes races transnational corporations and nations Repeated claims about the tragedy of the commons and the crisis of capitalism have done little to explain this concentration of land encourage solution building to solve resource depletion or address our current socio ecological crisis The Commons in an Age of Uncertainty presents a new explanation vision and action plan based on the idea of commoning the land The book argues that by commoning the land rather than privatising it we can develop the foundation for prosperity without destructive growth and address both local and global challenges Making the land the most fundamental priority of all commons does not only give hope it also opens the doors to a new world in which economy environment and society are decolonised and liberated

The Government and Copyright John S Gilchrist, 2015-09-01 The Government and Copyright The Government as Proprietor Preserver and User of Copyright Material Under the Copyright Act 1968 focuses on the interplay between law policy and practice in copyright law by investigating the rights of the government as the copyright owner the preserver of copyright material and the user of other s copyright material under the Copyright Act 1968 Cth The first of two recurring themes in the book asks the question whether the needs and status of government should be different from private sector institutions which also obtain copyright protection under the law The second theme aims to identify the relationship between government copyright law and policy national cultural policy and fundamental governance values As the first authoritative treatise on government copyright to be published in Australia this book will be of immediate interest and relevance to Australian lawyers and policy makers particularly in the light of ongoing efforts to ensure that the intellectual property system stimulates innovation and fosters trade and investment Given that government copyright is recognised to some extent in most countries worldwide this book is a valuable contribution to the international literature on this topic which remains sparse From the Introduction by Dr Anne Fitzgerald and Prof Brian Fitzgerald
