Privatise The Bbc:

In Focus: The Case for Privatising the BBC Ryan Bourne, Tim Congdon, Stephen Davies, Cento Veljanovski, 2016-04-28 The BBC holds a special place in the world of broadcasting It derives its funding from a compulsory levy on people who may not even use the service The protection it receives is justified on the grounds that it contributes to national welfare because of its role in public service broadcasting The authors of this book argue that the BBC's funding model is becoming untenable as technology changes Furthermore technology has also undermined the justification for government support for public service broadcasting There is also major concern about bias at the BBC However the book concludes that bias is not confined to the BBC but is common to all media providers The problem is not bias as such but the link between the BBC and the government together with the compulsory funding model which does not allow people to not fund content of which they disapprove Various options for reform are presented concluding with a proposal for fullblown privatisation It is concluded that this is the only way to realise the potential of an organisation that should be international in scope and which under the current funding model will become marginalised by media players operating worldwide across a range of platforms This book is essential reading for anybody involved in public policy or the economics of broadcasting From Public Service Broadcasting to Public Service Communications Damian Tambini, Jamie Cowling, 2004 Economics Made Easy Robert Dransfield, Donald Dransfield, 2002 This new text for Economics and Business Studies students focuses on key principles avoiding unnecessary complexity and irrelevant topics The Future of the BBC Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. National Heritage Committee, 1993 The Decade in Tory Russell Jones, 2022-10-27 In 2020 the United Kingdom reached a bewildering milestone ten successive years of Conservative rule In that decade there were three prime ministers each in turn described as the worst leader we ever had ministerial resignations by the hundred and an unrelenting stream of ineffectual divisive bum slurry oozing from 10 Downing Street The Decade in Tory is an inglorious rollicking and entirely true account of ten years of demonstrable lies relentless incompetence epic waste serial corruption official police investigations anti democratic practices abuse of power dereliction of duty and hundreds of thousands of avoidable deaths With his signature scathing wit Russell Jones breaks down the government's interminable failures year by year covering everything from David Cameron's pledge to tackle inequality which reduced UK life expectancy for the first time since 1841 through the bewildering storm of lies and betrayals that led to Brexit devastating education cuts serial mismanagement of the NHS and Boris Johnson's calamitous response to the Covid 19 pandemic It will leave you gasping and wondering can things possibly get any worse Television Policies of the Labour Party 1951-2001 Des Freedman, 2004-08-02 Des Freedman explores Labour's divided response to the development of commercial television in the 1950s and assesses the impact of Wilson's governments on television in the 1960s His key argument is that Labour has always been a vigorous but ultimately unreliable advocate of television In Focus Philip Booth, 2016 This book provides a timely discussion of public service broadcasting and the future of the BBC It is a blueprint for how the BBC could be freed from the shackles of the state to become a major player on the world media stage It deserves attention from those with an interest in the BBC and broadcasting

British Television Policy Bob Franklin, 2001 British Television Policy A Reader provides a forum for the significant policy debates which have informed and shaped television broadcasting since the publication in 1986 of the Peacock Committee Report on the financing of the BBC The Reader presents key documents and critically analyses their impact on the organisation financial resources programme content editorial philosophy and the regulatory environment of television broadcasting Recognising that policy making is not wholly a prerogative of government British Television Policy provides readers with access to a wide range of statutory and non governmental documents which have affected British broadcasting legislation Acts of Parliament Private Members Bills Select Committee Reports Official statements by Ministers Parliamentary inquiries such as the Davies Report Policy documents prepared by interest groups such as the Campaign for Quality Television and the Voice of the Listener and Viewer Strategic announcements from the ITC Statements from the BBC and ITV Public lectures by media owners and executives such as Rupert Murdoch and Richard Eyre Commentaries from media academics and media analysts Beginning with a comprehensive editorial introduction which details television policy since 1945 the Reader is arranged in thematic sections which explore the purpose of television broadcasting the financing of television broadcasting policy and quality regulation and the relationship of broadcasting and politics Each section is accompanied by an editor's introduction and commentary and the Reader is supported by a glossary and a guide to further reading

Pros and Cons, 2005-07-28 First Published in 1999 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

Television at the Crossroads G. Wedell, B. Luckham, 2001-06-11 Television had until recently a social and cultural purpose The BBC and to a lesser extent ITV and Channel 4 were committed by the legal instruments establishing them to develop and maintain these purposes With the enlargement of the range of choices for viewers by digital television and the provision of access to cable and satellite TV and the Internet the role of the terrestrial television channels is being diluted The authors examine the effects of this and consider whether anything can be done to maintain the standards and quality of television at a time of unlimited competition
