Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were randomly assigned to either a control group (CON) or an exercise group (EX). The EX group performed a 12-week training program consisting of three sessions per week of aerobic exercise. The HR and EE were measured at baseline and at the end of the 12-week training program. The EX group showed a significant decrease in HR and a significant increase in EE compared to the CON group. The results of this study suggest that a 12-week training program can effectively reduce HR and increase EE in sedentary, middle-aged women.

Careless Spilling, pushing, or climbing on the Tivvy causes the Tivvy to tilt, but doesn't necessarily turn itself off. It will keep going until it reaches the end of the line (see the End of the Line section).
Unbalanced If the top-down conveyor belt gets jammed or stalls, it will tilt all safety components perpendicular to the safety sign (see the Sign section).
Blocked If the control console and safety sign can't push out or install itself off-line, the conveyor will stall, causing the Tivvy to tilt.
