The Reshaping of West European Party Politics Christoffer Green-Pedersen, 2019-07-31 Long gone are the times when class based political parties with extensive membership dominated politics Instead party politics has become issue based Surprisingly few studies have focused on how the issue content of West European party politics has developed over the past decades Empirically Reshaping of West European Party Politics studies party politics in Belgium Denmark France Germany the Netherlands Sweden and the UK from 1980 and onwards This book highlights the more complex party system agenda with the decline but not disappearance of macroeconomic issues as well as the rise in new politics issues together with education and health care Moreover various new politics issues such as immigration the environment and European integration have seen very different trajectories To explain the development of the individual issues this volume develops a new theoretical model labelled the issue incentive model of party system attention The aim of the model is to explain how much attention issues get throughout the party system which is labelled the party system agenda To explain the development of the party system agenda one needs to focus on the incentives that individual policy issues offer to large mainstream parties i.e. the typical Social Democratic Christian Democratic or Conservative Liberal parties that have dominated West European governments for decades. The core idea of the model is that the incentives that individual policy issues offer to these vote and office seeking parties depend on three factors namely issue characteristics issue ownership and coalition considerations. The issue incentive model builds on and develops a top down perspective on which the issue content of party politics is determined by the strategic considerations of political parties and their competition with each other.
