Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were randomly assigned to either a control group (CON) or an exercise group (EX). The EX group performed a 12-week training program consisting of three sessions per week of aerobic exercise. The HR and EE were measured at baseline and at the end of the 12-week training program. The EX group showed a significant decrease in HR and a significant increase in EE compared to the CON group. The results of this study suggest that a 12-week training program can effectively reduce HR and increase EE in sedentary, middle-aged women.

- Day and night periods that are longer than the standard 24 hours occur most commonly with the use of artificial light or other light sources. To avoid this, there are two things the producer should do:
 - Turn off the lights at the end of the work day.
 - Use red light for night shifts, as the wavelength of this light may be less disruptive to the circadian rhythm.
- The end of the shift should be followed by a period of relaxation, and the worker should be encouraged to sleep during the day. The worker should be encouraged to sleep during the day. The worker should be encouraged to sleep during the day.

When you install your T-Value One Connection, improper installation of all four screws (50 combinations for One Connection) will void the warranty. Please, before installing, refer to the correct installation instructions. Failure to maintain proper ventilation may result in a variety of problems with the product.

- When a producer's price for the output rises or falls, it must adjust its output level accordingly. A rise in the price of the output will cause a producer to produce more, and a fall in the price of the output will cause a producer to produce less.
