

Activity 10.1

Reading material on our website on genetic variation in gametes completes part 1 of the following questions. Read carefully and understanding of the concepts discussed in the lecture.

1. Match each of the following changes in chromosome structure to its definition:

☒ A. Crossing

☐ B. Duplication

☐ C. Inversion

☐ D. Translocation

1a. is fusion of 2 chromosomes by their ends

1b. is presence of chromosome is deleted

1c. is segment of one chromosome has moved elsewhere; different, same chromosome, chromosome

1d. is fusion of 2 chromosomes; segment from one moves from one to other

2. How many genetically different gametes can be produced from a diploid cell with 4 pairs of chromosomes (pairs)? Explain your answer.

There are 16 genetically different gametes that can be produced because in 2ⁿ where n is total number chromosomes pairs, is 2⁴ which will equal 16 chromosomes per gamete produced. 2⁴ = 16 genetically different gametes

3. Although you will learn a mechanism of mutation from your parents, you recognize that some traits come from the less frequent mechanisms. For example, hair color and eye color. Why may some traits be inherited together?

That's because linked together and travel on the same chromosome. Crossing over can be independent assortment occurring, and a recombination of genes only occurs with recombination mechanisms. Some traits will be found with some others because of the genes on one chromosome. Linkage may be inherited together.

4. Describe the alignment of chromosomes during prophase I, write equations.

During prophase I synapsis occurs and homologous chromosomes align together, called synapsis. This is important because it allows the crossing over to occur and results in new genetic combinations.

5. How does recombination lead to chromosomal polymorphism? Describe two types of genetic disorders that can result from recombination.
