Reasoning in Measurement Nicola Mößner, Alfred Nordmann, 2017-03-16 This collection offers a new understanding of the epistemology of measurement The interdisciplinary volume explores how measurements are produced for example in astronomy and seismology in studies of human sexuality and ecology in brain imaging and intelligence testing It considers photography as a measurement technology and Henry David Thoreau's poetic measures as closing the gap between mind and world By focusing on measurements as the hard won results of conceptual as well as technical operations the authors of the book no longer presuppose that measurement is always and exclusively a means of representing some feature of a target object or entity Measurement also provides knowledge about the degree to which things have been standardized or harmonized it is an indicator of how closely human practices are attuned to each other and the world Proceedings of the Sixth International Conference on Mathematics and Computing Debasis Giri, Rajkumar Buyya, S. Putting the "Why" Back into Bone "Archytecture" Phil Salmon, Daniel Chappard, Andrew Anthony Pitsillides, 2017-07-27 A large literature exists on trabecular and cortical bone morphology The engineering performance of bone implied from its 3d architecture is often the endpoint of bone biology experiments being clinically relevant to bone fracture How and why does bone travel along its complex spatio temporal trajectory to acquire its architecture The question why can have two meanings The first teleological why is an architecture advantageous is the domain of substantial biomechanical research to date The second etiological how did an architecture come about has received far less attention This Frontiers Bone Research Topic invited contributions addressing this etiological why what mechanisms can coordinate the activity of bone forming and resorbing cells to produce the observed complex and efficient bone architectures One mechanism is proposed chaotic nonlinear pattern formation NPF which underlies in a unifying way natural structures as disparate as trabecular bone swarms of birds flying or shoaling fish island formation fluid turbulence and others At the heart of NPF is the fact that simple rules operating between interacting elements multiplied and repeated many times lead to complex and structured patterns This paradigm of growth and form leads to a profound link between bone regulation and its architecture in bone the architecture is the regulation The former is the emergent consequence of the latter Whatever mechanism does determine bone s developing architecture has to operate at the level of individual sites of formation and resorption and coupling between the two This has implications as to how we understand the effect on bone of agents such as gene products or drugs It may be for instance that the tuning of coupling between formation and resorption might be as important as the achievement of enhanced bone volume The ten articles that were contributed to this Topic were just what we hoped for a snapshot of leading edge bone biology research which addresses the question of how bone gets its shape We hope that you find these papers thought provoking and that they might stimulate new ideas in the research into bone architecture growth and adaptation and how to preserve healthy bone from gestation and childhood until old age

Applications of Machine Learning in Volcanology Bellina Di Lieto, Pierdomenico Romano, Silvia Scarpetta, Yosuke Aoki, Carmen Benítez, 2025-04-29 The characterization of volcano state is not a simple task due the complexity of physics processes underway Understanding their evolution prior to and during eruptions is a critical point for identifying transitions in volcanic state Permanent monitoring networks are developed for such a purpose With the increase of the number of monitoring sites the amount of available continuous data coming from different sources infrasonic seismic GPS geochemical etc has increased exponentially and extracting the huge amount of information this data brings represents a non trivial task for researchers who are always more often looking at the potentiality of computer algorithms to find correlations among them Recent developments in the field of Machine Learning ML have proven to be very useful and efficient for automatic discrimination decision prediction clustering and information extraction in many fields including volcanology In recent times Deep Learning has seen rapid growth in its popularity along with other supervised strategies such as Support Vectors Machines and Recurrent neural networks RNN which have consistently been applied with success to broader and broader sets of applications and fields However supervised machine learning requires labels for training and obtaining these labels for large volumes of seismic and volcanic data is a very demanding and challenging task Therefore semi supervised and unsupervised methods such as Self organized Maps have been applied with success to extract relevant information from huge amounts of unlabelled data In seismic and deformative data processing these techniques are used for waveform inversion automatic picking of first arrivals and interpretation of peculiar characteristics of transients ML is helpful in the discrimination of magmatic complexes in distinguishing tectonic settings of volcanic rocks in the evaluation of correlations between volcanic signals and the chemico physical composition of erupted materials Other applications of ML in volcanology include the analysis and classification of geological geochemical and petrological static data to infer for example the possible source and mechanism of observed deposits the analysis of satellite imagery to quickly classify vast regions difficult to investigate on the ground or again to detect changes that could indicate an unrest The results obtained with the help of these algorithms would otherwise represent for researchers tasks hard to be solved with the usual standard methodologies Conference Proceeding.
