Setswana Mid Year Memorandum:

Rethinking Setswana Literacy Practices Dudu Jankie, 2001 The study findings suggest that the Discourses constructed in Setswana classrooms in interaction with those constructed in the macro contexts of the society simultaneously accommodate and silence students personal experiences and community knowledge Similarly they contribute to the roles and positioning of expert teachers in relation to Setswana teaching as well as to teachers and students positive and negative perceptions towards incorporating knowledge about the community and students experiences in Setswana literacy instruction

Text Variability Measures in Corpus Design for Setswana Lexicography Thapelo J.

Otlogetswe, 2011-01-18 This book is about the design of a Setswana corpus for lexicography While various corpora have been compiled and a variety of corpora based research has been attempted in African languages no effort has been made towards corpus design Additionally although extensive analysis of the Setswana language has been done by missionaries grammarians and linguists since the 1800s none of this research is in corpus design Most research has been largely on the grammatical study of the language The recent corpora research in African languages in general has been on the use of corpora for the compilation of dictionaries and little of it is in corpus design Pioneers of this kind of corpora research in African languages are Prinsloo and De Schryver 1999 De Schryver and Prinsloo 2000 and 2001 and Gouws and Prinsloo 2005 Because of a lack of research in corpora design particularly in African languages this book attempts to fill that gap especially for Setswana It is hoped that the finding of this study will inspire similar designs in other languages comparable to Setswana We explore corpus design by focusing on measuring a variety of text types for lexical richness at comparable token points The study explores the question of whether a corpus compiled for lexicography must comprise a variety of texts drawn from different text types or whether the quality of retrieved information for lexicographic purposes from a corpus comprising diverse text varieties could be equally extracted from a corpus with a single text type This study therefore determines whether linguistic variability is crucial in corpus design for lexicography

English Language and Literature Modupe Moyosore Alimi, Mompoloki Mmangaka Bagwasi, Patrick James Ebewo, 2020-11-09 English Language and Literature Cross Cultural Currents is a collection of essays that interrogate the precarious positions of English and African languages in an era in which English is increasingly becoming the dominant language in Africa while at the same time there is a growing resistance against it Though many Africans take pride in their own cultural heritage that is expressed by their African languages they require the economic and social benefits of English The book presents a language dilemma in which both African languages and English enhance inhibit and influence each other The data used by the authors spans a broad spectrum of sources including fiction courts parliamentary Hansards House of Chiefs classrooms internet roads and bus ranks Thus it is reflective of the most and least educated the most and least influential Africans The presentations provide broad insights about African symbols metaphors imagery and folklores representing undocumented literature that challenge scientific imperialism and deficit theories The diversity and freshness of the ideas in the book stem from the unique blend of the background of the contributors English language and literature teachers teachers of African languages educationalists sociologists historians and politicians Thus the book is a valuable asset to scholars in linguistics anthropology and language policy makers Bibiliokerafi Ya Puo Ya Setswana : Bibiliokerafi Ya Dibuka, Dimakasini, Dipamfolêê Le Mayakgatiso Go Fitlha Ka Ngwaga Wa 1980 Marguerite Andrée Peters, Matthew Mathêthê Tabane, 1982 Media and the Empire Ruth Teer-Tomaselli, Donal McCracken, 2017-10-02 This volume on print and broadcast media in the 19th and 20th centuries highlights the pivotal role that the media played in the establishment and maintenance of imperial power The media bolstered both the ideological and financial objectives of the empire in a myriad of overt covert and downright scandalous ways From jeopardising the introduction of wireless telegraphy in order to maximise the financial gains of the investors of under sea cabling to newspaper proprietors cashing in on the thrilling wonderful and sometimes fabricated adventures of war correspondents in exotic lands the media has had a constant background influence in the public's perception of empire By covering diverse topics from Anthony Lejeune's radio talk show London Letters which supported the Allies by boosting morale and providing a link between soldiers fighting abroad and their families during both World Wars to the complete subversion of imperial influence as in the case of the proliferation of diverse media platforms being used by migrant communities in Britain as a means to promote colonization in reverse the book hints at the politics suspense and intrigue of both the print and broadcast sectors This book was originally published as a special issue of Critical Arts Botswana, 1939-1945 Ashley Jackson, 1999 This is the first full study of an African country during the Second World War Unusually it provides both an Africanist and an imperial perspective Using extensive archival and oral evidence Ashley Jackson explores the social economic political agricultural and military history of Botswana He examines Botswana's military contribution to the war effort and the impact of the war on the African home front The book focuses on events and personalities on the ground in Africa and also on their interaction with and impact upon events and personalities in distant imperial centres such as Whitehall and the wartime British Army headquarters in the Middle East The attitudes aims and actions of all levels of colonial society British rulers African chiefs military officials ordinary African men and women are considered producing a total history of an African country at war Memorandum , Includes also a revised ed of no 1 published 1930 Rabadi Ratshatsha Mawatle Jeremiah Mojalefa, 2007-11-01 After forty years in academia P S Groenwald leaves a rich heritage which is measured not only in terms of his impressive list of publications but also in terms of those for whom he was the academic mentor His versatility as academic is reflected in the variety of specialist fields in which his former students find themselves Experts in literature and linguistics lexicographers and translators all found their niches under his tutelage In appreciation of the enormous contribution that he made towards their careers and academic schooling former students and colleagues have decided to honour him with this festschrift Culture in Africa Raoul Granqvist, 1993

South African Writing in Transition Rita Barnard, Andrew van der Vlies, 2019-02-21 Bringing together leading and emerging scholars this book asks the question how has contemporary South African literature grappled with ideas of time and history during the political transition away from apartheid Reading the work of major South African writers such as J M Coetzee Nadine Gordimer and Ivan Vladislavic as well as contemporary crime fiction South African Writing in Transition explores how concerns about time and temporality have shaped literary form across the country's literary culture Establishing new connections between leading literary voices and lesser known works the book explores themes of truth and reconciliation disappointment and betrayal Mating Norman Rush, 1992-09-01 NATIONAL BOOK AWARD WINNER Is love between equals possible This modern classic is a delightful intellectual love story that explores the deepest canyons of romantic love even as it asks large questions about society geopolitics and the mystery of what men and women really want Luminous Few books evoke the state of love at its apogee The New York Times Book Review The best rendering of erotic politics since D H Lawrence The voice of Rush's narrator is immediate instructive and endearing The New York Review of Books One of The Atlantic's Great American Novels of the Past 100 Years The narrator of this splendidly expansive novel of high intellect and grand passion is an American anthropologist at loose ends in the South African republic of Botswana She has a noble and exacting mind a compelling waist and a busted thesis project She also has a yen for Nelson Denoon a charismatic intellectual who is rumored to have founded a secretive and unorthodox utopian society in a remote corner of the Kalahari one in which he is virtually the only man What ensues is an exhilarating quest and an exuberant comedy of manners A dryly comic love story about grown up people who take the life of the mind seriously Newsweek South African Literary Studies Christopher J. Lee, Andrew Offenburger, 2025-09-22 The collection delves into crucial themes and debates in South African literature addressing the innovative aesthetics of Black poetry the political complexities of white writing non-fiction's significance and the role of geography in South Africa's regional fiction It particularly examines how literary works have engaged with the country's evolving post apartheid identity and its place in global contexts South African Literary Studies A Safundi Reader on Genre Method and Ideas 1999 2024 marks the culminating volume in a series celebrating Safundi's twenty fifth anniversary This comprehensive collection showcases the journal's evolution from its initial focus on US South African comparative histories to its embrace of a wider range of interdisciplinary and literary studies Divided into seven sections this volume explores a diverse set of literary approaches including transnational comparisons featuring influential figures like Maya Angelou Alan Paton Zora Neale Hurston and Bessie Head It further addresses the works of poets and novelists who have shaped South African literature including Lesego Rampolokeng Keorapetse Kgositile and J M Coetzee while also offering illuminating interviews with writers such as Chris Abani C A Davids and Mark Behr Through its exploration of various genres methods and ideas this volume retains Safundi's founding spirit of examining comparative and transnational connections while also demonstrating how literary criticism has become indispensable in defining South African culture and identity after apartheid The Hidden History of South Africa's Book and Reading Cultures Archie L. Dick, 2013-06-17 The Hidden History of South Africa's Book and Reading Cultures shows how the common practice of reading can illuminate the social and political history of a culture This ground breaking study reveals resistance strategies in the reading and writing practices of South Africans strategies that have been hidden until now for political reasons relating to the country's liberation struggles By looking to records from a slave lodge women's associations army education units universities courts libraries prison departments and political groups Archie Dick exposes the key works of fiction and non-fiction magazines and newspapers that were read and discussed by political activists and prisoners Uncovering the book and library schemes that elites used to regulate reading Dick exposes incidences of intellectual fraud book theft censorship and book burning Through this innovative methodology Dick aptly shows how South African readers used reading and books to resist unjust regimes and build community across South Africa's class and racial barriers Text, Theory, Space Kate Darian-Smith, Liz Gunner, Sarah Nuttall, 2005-08-04 Text Theory Space is a landmark in post colonial criticism and theory Focusing on two white settler societies South Africa and Australia the contributors investigate the meaning of the South as an aesthetic political geographical and cultural space Drawing upon a wide range of disciplines which include literature history urban and cultural geography politics and anthropology the contributors examine crucial issues including defining what the South encompasses investigating ideas of space history land and landscape claiming naming and possessing land national and personal boundaries questions of race gender and nationalism Resources in Education ,1987 "Where We Used to Plough" Christiane Naumann, 2017 This book offers a historically and ethnographically informed case study of environmental governance institutional and land use change and livelihood strategies in a former homeland in the South African Free State province Based on rich archival material the author reconstructs how the state invented a degradation narrative and used it as legitimation for the regulation of human environment relations during the twentieth century In addition the study investigates how people today make a living in a post agrarian society characterized by low agricultural production diversification of non farm incomes and declining population numbers declining population numbers Author Christiane Naumann is a lecturer at the Department of Social and Cultural Anthropology at the University of Cologne

Language and Exclusion Ayo Bamgboṣe, 2000 Language is a critical factor in nation building and in a continent such as Africa where language groups do not necessarily correspond with national boundaries it is potentially contentious as well Ayo Bamgboṣe's new book focuses on the problem of language exclusion whereby certain languages and groups are omitted from language policies particularly in countries in Sub Saharan Africa Originally based on a series of lectures given in South Africa the individual chapters largely preserve the original style of presentation Consequently the book is readable and a valuable introduction to some of the more important issues in African sociolinguistics The book makes special reference to the language situation in post apartheid South Africa The appendices provide access to some of the most important documents on language policies such as the Organization of African Unity s Language Plan of Action For Africa 1986 the language provisions in the Constitution of the Federal Republic of South Africa 1996 and the Barcelona Universal Declaration on Linguistics Rights

Teaching Translation and Interpreting 4 Eva Hung, 2002-06-20 This volume contains selected papers from the 4th Language International Conference on Teaching Translation and Interpreting Building Bridges which was held in Shanghai in December 1998 The collection is an excellent source of ideas and information for teachers and students alike With contributions from five continents the topics discussed cover a wide range including the relevance of translation theories cultural and technical knowledge acquisition literary translation translation and interpreting for the media Internet related training methods and tools for student assessment While complementing the volumes of the previous three conferences in exploring new methods and frontiers this collection is particularly strong on case studies outside of the European and Anglo American spheres

A Decade of Democracy Iziko Museums of Cape Town, South African National Gallery, 2004 A fitting way of reflecting on the changes of the last decade and assessing the extent to which transformation has had an impact on South Africa
