Overall, I am very happy in life. I have enjoyed many successes, and I am genuinely grateful for my day-to-day experiences. I believe that I have worked very hard over the last few years to allow myself to enjoy these successes. However, for as long as I can remember, I have struggled with developing good habits. The id is what compels me to go for the cheesecake at the dining hall, or to purchase the $8 sunglasses off of the street that conventional logic would tell me I don’t really need. The most sound dietary and financial decisions will be made when my ego is able to compromise, rather than giving in to my id. While I would like to whittle down the power of
