Faith-based Perspectives on the Provision of Community Services United States. Congress. House. Committee on Government Reform. Subcommittee on Criminal Justice, Drug Policy, and Human Resources, 2004 Resources in Education , 1996-04 Saving America? Robert Wuthnow, 2009-11-06 On January 29 2001 President George W Bush signed an executive order creating the White House Office of Faith Based and Community Initiatives This action marked a key step toward institutionalizing an idea that emerged in the mid 1990s under the Clinton administration the transfer of some social programs from government control to religious organizations However despite an increasingly vocal ideologically charged national debate a debate centered on such questions as What are these organizations doing How well are they doing it Should they be supported with tax dollars solid answers have been few In Saving America Robert Wuthnow provides a wealth of up to date information whose absence until now has hindered the pursuit of answers Assembling and analyzing new evidence from research he and others have conducted he reveals what social support faith based agencies are capable of providing Among the many questions he addresses Are congregations effective vehicles for providing broad based social programs or are they best at supporting their own members How many local congregations have formal programs to assist needy families How much money do such programs represent How many specialized faith based service agencies are there and which are most effective Are religious organizations promoting trust love and compassion The answers that emerge demonstrate that American religion is helping needy families and that it is more broadly fostering civil society Yet religion alone cannot save America from the broad problems it faces in providing social services to those who need them most Elegantly written Saving America represents an authoritative and evenhanded benchmark of information for the current and the coming debate Volunteers Marc A. Musick, John Wilson, 2007-11-28 Who tends to volunteer and why What causes attract certain types of volunteers What motivates people to volunteer How can volunteers be persuaded to continue their service Making use of a broad range of survey information to offer a detailed portrait of the volunteer in America Volunteers provides an important resource for everyone who works with volunteers or is interested in their role in contemporary society Mark A Musick and John Wilson address issues of volunteer motivation by focusing on individuals subjective states their available resources and the influence of gender and race In a section on social context they reveal how volunteer work is influenced by family relationships and obligations through the impact of schools churches and communities They consider cross national differences in volunteering and historical trends and close with consideration of the research on the organization of volunteer work and the consequences of volunteering for the volunteer FCC Record United States. Federal Communications Commission, 2012 United States Congressional Serial Set, Serial No. 14725, House Reports Nos. 131-152 , Federal Communications Commission Reports. V. 1-45, 1934/35-1962/64; 2d Ser., V. 1- July 17/Dec. 27, 1965-. United States. Federal Communications Commission, 1962 Federal Communications Commission
