Ballot Blocked Jesse H. Rhodes, 2017-09-12 Voting rights are a perennial topic in American politics Recent elections and the Supreme Court's decision in Shelby County v Holder which struck down key enforcement provisions in the Voting Rights Act VRA have only placed further emphasis on the debate over voter disenfranchisement Over the past five decades both Democrats and Republicans in Congress have consistently voted to expand the protections offered to vulnerable voters by the Voting Rights Act And yet the administration of the VRA has become more fragmented and judicial interpretation of its terms has become much less generous Why have Republicans consistently adopted administrative and judicial decisions that undermine legislation they repeatedly endorse Ballot Blocked shows how the divergent trajectories of legislation administration and judicial interpretation in voting rights policymaking derive largely from efforts by conservative politicians to narrow the scope of federal enforcement while at the same time preserving their public reputations as supporters of racial equality and minority voting rights Jesse H Rhodes argues that conservatives adopt a paradoxical strategy in which they acquiesce to expansive voting rights protections in Congress where decisions are visible and easily traceable while simultaneously narrowing the scope of federal enforcement via administrative and judicial maneuvers which are less visible and harder to trace Over time the repeated execution of this strategy has enabled a conservative Supreme Court to exercise preponderant influence over the scope of federal enforcement International Insights: Equality in Education Vana Chiou, Oliver Holz, Nesrin Oruç Ertürk, Fiona Shelton, 2019 Educational institutions should offer a safe and secure environment for young people Part of that should be educational equity which is a measure of achievement fairness and opportunity in education This publication analyses and discusses educational equality from different angles All contributions reflect on the current situation of 11 European countries All of them are part of the Bologna process and are dealing with the challenges of the development of a European Higher Education Area This ongoing process is reflected in the present publication with a specific focus on equality in education The authors cover aspects like inclusion and inequality internationalizing education and accessing education but they also deal with learning foreign languages education for the future assessment feedback and student success lifelong learning teacher training as well as different aspects of the LGB T community and gender and education Multilingual Education in South Asia Lina Adinolfi, Usree Bhattacharya, Prem Phyak, 2022-05-17 Spanning scholarly contributions from India Nepal Bangladesh Pakistan and Sri Lanka this edited volume seeks to capture and elucidate the distinct challenges approaches and possible solutions associated with interpreting adapting and applying language in education policies in a range of linguistically complex teaching and learning environments across South Asia Centring on the ground perspectives of scholars practitioners pupils parents and the larger community the volume offers new insights into one of the most complex populous and diverse multilingual educational contexts in the world Language in education policies and practices within this setting represent particularly high stakes issues playing a pivotal role in determining access to literacy thereby forming a critical pivot in the reproduction of educational inequality The broad aim of the collection is thus to highlight the pedagogical practical ideological and identity related implications arising from current language in education policies in this region with the aim of illustrating how systemic inequality is intertwined with such policies and their associated interpretations Aimed at both academics and practitioners whether researchers and students in the fields of education linguistics sociology anthropology or South Asian studies on the one hand or language policy advisors curriculum developers teacher educators teachers and members of funding bodies aid providers or NGOs on the other it is anticipated that the accounts in this volume will offer their readership opportunities to consider their wider
