Members' contributions show the funds generally met the targets of £1.25 per person. Managing authorities' expenditure on supplementary activities was around 10 per cent of budget (only 10 per cent in the case of the three smaller, non-rural districts) but supplementary and related activities are not fully covered by the central funds, and so the general budget situation is, naturally, more difficult. The committee are therefore in no doubt that the funds need to be better used than they are at present and they recommend that the government should consider ways of doing this.

Multi-level management involvement is generally only implemented following requests from below to address existing and emerging HR issues and the opportunity to build trust and affinity with employees receiving training from their immediate manager. Encouraging and facilitating in this manner promotes effectiveness within the organization and the sense of progression of the employee's career, and the training itself tends to be stronger. Studies on employee self-reliance in training and learning indicate effectiveness and values about government only reflect the issues are more. The organization faces the following challenges and solutions:

Students will often produce a sentence describing an event and then quickly translate it to the next step in the process. For instance, a child might say, "I'm washing my hands," and then say, "I'm drying my hands." The teacher can then ask the student to describe the next step in the process, such as "I'm putting on my shirt." This can help the student to understand the sequence of events and to use the correct vocabulary to describe them.
