

A Personal Philosophy

By Bob Krone

Dedicated to Mae Sue Krone, whose love, guidance, and partnership nurtured its evolution

Abstract

After a life of diverse professional activities, including earning a doctor of philosophy degree and editing the Journal of Space Philosophy, Bob Krone decides to describe the origins and evolution of his own values and philosophy.

Keywords: values, learning, self-examination, teaching, leadership, academics, systems, space, philosophy, humanity.

Introduction

Michel Montaigne (1533-1592) is credited with inventing the essay form with his classic work Essais (1st Edition, 1580). He lived and reworked his essays in a French rural retreat after being the Mayor of Bordeaux from 1581-1585. Since then, essays have traditionally been short statements feeling their way towards expression of what needs a far wider space to exhaust. Using the Montaigne essay style here, I have not provided specific references for statements throughout this article. Interested readers can find my complete resume/curriculum vitae at www.bobkrone.com/node/103.

Every human being has a personal life philosophy. It was formed by a complex lifetime mix of genetics, environment, and learning over time. A small percentage of humans have explicitly documented their own philosophy as an analysis of their own value systems, or to understand the values, sources, and influences on their beliefs over time. My definition of values – created during my doctoral studies at UCLA – is “Values are principles or things preferred.” That is different from the economic definition of value, which is usually oriented toward quantitative worth. Philosophy and values are not synonymous, but have many commonalities. Philosophy is oriented toward total life meaning, while values form the components of that totality.

Most people’s personal philosophy is created and evolves from experiences and just living, not from conscious reflection and design. Is that not the best way to develop philosophy? For some, it may be. But the belief I bring to this article is that individual, family, group, organization, agency, business, society, national, international, and human existence would improve with wiser and more explicit self-examination of values and philosophy. There is value in knowing answers to the questions: What do I believe? and How should my beliefs impact my behavior?

Dr. Paul R. Cone was my mentor for two university faculty appointments – the University of Southern California in 1975 and La Sierra University, Riverside, California in 1992. Paul was a wise, compassionate, and brilliant leader in both academics and business. One of the many lessons I learned from Paul Cone he had condensed into

Professionalism Across Occupational Therapy Practice Elizabeth DeJuliis, 2024-06-01 When most people think of professionalism ethics or moralism they often think of a set of rules for distinguishing between right and wrong such as the proverbial Golden Rule However the true definition of professionalism is not an easy one and it is not necessarily black and white In fact it could be argued that it is often easier to describe what is not professional versus what is professional It could also be disputed that although professionalism can be recognized when you see it you may not necessarily be able to put your finger on what it is exactly Professionalism Across Occupational Therapy Practice by Dr Elizabeth D DeJuliis provides an overview of the wide ranging knowledge skills and attitudes that encompass professionalism across the occupational therapy profession While there is no formal endorsed definition of professionalism in occupational therapy practice suggestions are provided to serve as a blueprint for use Professionalism in occupational therapy practice is a dynamic sophistication exemplified by a combination of an individual's personal skill set knowledge behaviors and attitudes and the adoption of the moral and ethical values of the profession and society Dr DeJuliis illustrates the concept of professionalism as a unique combination of intrinsic and extrinsic qualities surrounding key constructs of ethics responsibility competency and behavior Professionalism Across Occupational Therapy Practice discusses these various expectations in the academic setting the clinic workplace and in general society Professionalism Across Occupational Therapy Practice utilizes a developmental approach to teaching and learning paralleling the Revised Bloom's Taxonomy 2001 This classification system provides a graded holistic methodology to human teaching and learning The concept of professionalism will be exemplified by using both a knowledge based approach to subject matter requiring higher level learning such as metacognition which is a crucial component of professionalism The chapter objectives and learning activities will challenge the reader to recall comprehend apply analysis synthesize evaluate and create knowledge directly to their context Instructors in educational settings can visit www.efacultylounge.com for additional materials such as informative appendices and resources include sample statements for syllabi policy manuals resume and CV templates interview guidelines professional development plans and more to be used for teaching in the classroom

Occupational Therapy practitioners at all levels including fieldwork educators leaders managers and researchers will also benefit Professionalism Across Occupational Therapy Practice as it provides a synopsis of professional expectations beyond the classroom and fieldwork setting Due to recent changes in healthcare educational standards and societal influence the expectation of professionalism has been under greater scrutiny across health and social care professions Professionalism Across Occupational Therapy Practice is the ideal text to provide a blueprint for occupational therapy students faculty and practitioners to fulfill our profession's potential and achieve the American Occupational Therapy Association's Vision 2025
