

Engineering research project: proposal

What is a research proposal?

- A plan or outline of your proposed research project

What is its purpose?

- To demonstrate that you have identified a suitable question/problem to investigate
- To demonstrate that you have identified an appropriate approach to investigate the question/problem

Structure of research proposal

Title page
This is a separate page with title of the report, name, ID and other identifying details as requested.
Introduction
This section provides contextual information to set the scene for your research project. You will also discuss why this research is needed and the broad aims and objectives.
Research questions
State very clearly and concisely your research questions.
Literature Review
This is a more detailed presentation of information related to your proposed research. You will draw on literature related to your topic including journal articles, reports and other scholarly sources.
Research design (methodology)
This section details how you will go about answering your research question/s.
Research timeline (if required)
This section details what activities or tasks will be undertaken in your research and when.
References
This is a list of the references cited in the proposal. For further guidance about referencing and avoiding plagiarism, check the UnISA website on referencing .
Appendices (if required)
This includes supplementary materials placed at the end rather than in the main part of your proposal where they might distract from the flow of the discussion.

(NOTE: Check your project guidelines for any specific requirements or variations to the above structure)

Update to the ... Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance ,1986 Social Science, Technical Systems, and Cooperative Work Geoffrey Bowker,Susan Leigh Star,Les Gasser,William Turner,2014-05-12 This book is the first to directly address the question of how to bridge what has been termed the great divide between the approaches of systems developers and those of social scientists to computer supported cooperative work a question that has been vigorously debated in the systems development literature Traditionally developers have been trained in formal methods and oriented to engineering and formal theoretical problems many social scientists in the CSCW field come from humanistic traditions in which results are reported in a narrative mode In spite of their differences in style the two groups have been cooperating more and more in the last decade as the people problems associated with computing become increasingly evident to everyone The authors have been encouraged to examine rigorously and in depth the theoretical basis of CSCW With contributions from field leaders in the United Kingdom France Scandinavia Mexico and the United States this volume offers an exciting overview of the cutting edge of research and theory It constitutes a solid foundation for the rapidly coalescing field of social informatics Divided into three parts this volume covers social theory design theory and the sociotechnical system with respect to CSCW The first set of chapters looks at ways of rethinking basic social categories with the development of distributed collaborative computing technology concepts of the group technology information user and text The next section concentrates more on the lessons that can be learned at the design stage given that one wants to build a

CSCW system incorporating these insights what kind of work does one need to do and how is understanding of design affected The final part looks at the integration of social and technical in the operation of working sociotechnical systems Collectively the contributors make the argument that the social and technical are irremediably linked in practice and so the great divide not only should be a thing of the past it should never have existed in the first place Consulting-specifying Engineer ,2000 Electrical Engineering ,1908 Organizing Business Knowledge Thomas W.
