Preservation Education Barry L. Stiefel, Jeremy C. Wells, 2014-09-02 Over the past twenty years there has been a fundamental shift in the institutional organization of historic preservation education. Historic preservation is the most recent arrival in the collection of built environment disciplines and therefore lacks the pedagogical depth and breadth found in allied endeavors such as architecture and planning. As the first degree programs in preservation only date to the 1970s and the first doctoral programs to the 1990s new faculty are confronted with pedagogical challenges that are unique to this relatively nascent field. Based on a conference that included educators from around the world Barry L Stiefel and Jeremy C Wells now present a collection that seeks to address fundamental issues of preservation pedagogy outcome based education and assessment and global issues of authenticity and significance in historic preservation. The editors argue that the subject of the analysis has shifted from What is the best way to fix a historic building to What are the best ways for teaching people how to preserve historic properties and why according to the various standards that have been established. This important reconsideration of the state of the field in historic preservation education will appeal to a broad audience across numerous disciplines.

The Art of Classic Planning Nir Haim Buras, 2020-01-28 An accomplished architect and urbanist goes back to the roots of what makes cities attractive and livable demonstrating how we can restore function and beauty to our urban spaces for the long term. Nearly everything we treasure in the world's most beautiful cities was built over a century ago. Cities like Prague Paris and Lisbon draw millions of visitors from around the world because of their exquisite architecture walkable neighborhoods and human scale. Yet a great deal of the knowledge and practice behind successful city planning has been abandoned over the last hundred years not because of traffic population growth or other practical hurdles but because of ill considered theories emerging from Modernism and reactions to it The errors of urban design over the last century are too great not to question The solutions being offered today sustainability walkability smart and green technologies hint at what has been lost and what may be regained but they remain piecemeal and superficial In The Art of Classic Planning architect and planner Nir Haim Buras documents and extends the time tested and holistic practices that held sway before the reign of Modernism With hundreds of full color illustrations and photographs that will captivate architects planners administrators and developers The Art of Classic Planning restores and revitalizes the foundations of urban planning Inspired by venerable cities like Kyoto Vienna and Venice and by the great successes of L Enfant s Washington Haussmann s Paris and Burnham s Chicago Buras combines theory and a host of examples to arrive at clear guidelines for best practices in classic planning for today s world The Art of Classic Planning celebrates the enduring principles of urban design and invites us to return to building beautiful cities

Planning and Design for Sustainable Urban Mobility

Un-Habitat, 2013-10-30 Urban transport systems worldwide are faced by a multitude of challenges Among the most visible of these are the traffic gridlocks experienced on city roads and highways all over the world The prescribed solution to transport problems in most cities has thus been to build more infrastructures for cars with a limited number of cities improving public transport systems in a sustainable manner However a number of challenges faced by urban transport systems such as greenhouse gas emissions noise and air pollution and road traffic accidents do not necessarily get solved by the construction of new infrastructure Planning and Design for Sustainable Urban Mobility argues that the development of sustainable urban transport systems requires a conceptual leap The purpose of transportation and mobility is to gain access to destinations activities services and goods Thus access is the ultimate objective of transportation As a result urban planning and design should focus on how to bring people and places together by creating cities that focus on accessibility rather than simply increasing the length of urban transport infrastructure or increasing the movement of people or goods Urban form and the functionality of the city are therefore a major focus of this report which highlights the importance of integrated land use and transport planning This new report of the United Nations Human Settlements Programme UN Habitat the world's leading authority on urban issues provides some thought provoking insights and policy recommendations on how to plan and design sustainable urban mobility systems The Global Report on Human Settlements is the most authoritative and up to date global assessment of human settlements conditions and trends Preceding issues of the report have addressed such topics as Cities in a Globalizing World The Challenge of Slums Financing Urban Shelter Enhancing Urban Safety and Security Planning Sustainable Cities and Cities and Climate Change
