

A REFLECTION PAPER ON TEACHING FOR UNDERSTANDING

Submitted to Dr. ERNIE GRIO

Course: SCHOOL PROGRAM DESIGN

Submitted by Reynante R. Malano - ELP

Teaching for Understanding was first introduced to me during some discussion on UbD in my masters. As a grade school teacher, that sounded new to me as said framework was actually intendedly implemented for secondary schools years back. But with the insights I gained from my classmates' brainstorming and multitude exchanges of opinions, I was hooked on it and felt the need to introduce UbD to my colleagues in school.

When I first introduced it to some comrades most of them presumably thought that UbD has been around for some time but perhaps, they just hardly noticed it. They claimed that they must have been using it but it only hides itself with another name. With this discovery, I could only sway my head and insisted that Teaching for Understanding is not that stuff that they know, so to speak. Because of that, I arranged a schedule with my Quality Circle Group in the English Department so we could talk about it over a cup of coffee. There are only eight (8) of us in the group so said meeting was quite manageable and I really prepared to put my message across.

We started off informally by asking each one how the day went during the day. We exchanged answers to questions regarding knowledge, concepts and skills. We tried to discuss the definition of Understanding as against knowledge and skills. Answers were as varied and as complicated as they could be. Others even agreed that knowledge and understanding are one and the same.

Most of them use lecture as the only way to teach a certain topic. Some would just follow in toto the order of the Philippine Elementary Learning Curriculum (PELC). Some said that as long as they completed the minimum learning competencies, they might as well did well. So superficial an understanding, I must say.

Hence I discussed to them the UbD framework beginning with the wrong notion of teaching for understanding--- that tests are not the end-all of learner achievement; that memorizing facts, theories, and figures could only be starters to truly understand the truth and essentials of a theme; that learners

Handbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry Nona Lyons, 2010-04-07 Philosophers have warned of the perils of a life spent without reflection but what constitutes reflective inquiry and why it is necessary in our lives can be an elusive concept Synthesizing ideas from minds as diverse as John Dewey and Paulo Freire the Handbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry presents reflective thought in its most vital aspects not as a fanciful or nostalgic exercise but as a powerful means of seeing familiar events anew encouraging critical thinking and crucial insight teaching and learning In its opening pages two seasoned educators Maxine Greene and Lee Shulman discuss reflective inquiry as a form of active attention Thoreau's wide awakeness an act of consciousness and a process by which people can understand themselves their work particularly in the form of life projects and others Building on this foundation the Handbook analyzes through the work of 40 internationally oriented authors Definitional issues concerning reflection what it is and is not Worldwide social and moral conditions contributing to the growing interest in reflective inquiry in professional education Reflection as promoted across professional educational domains including K 12 education teacher education occupational therapy and the law Methods of facilitating and scaffolding reflective engagement Current pedagogical and research practices in reflection Approaches to assessing reflective inquiry Educators across the professions as well as adult educators counselors and psychologists and curriculum developers concerned with adult learning will find the Handbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry an invaluable teaching tool for challenging times

Reflections on Postgraduate Supervision and Academic Development in an African Distance Education Environment Tennyson Mgutshini, Thenjiwe Meyiwa, Amile Mavundla, 2024-03-05 Within postgraduate studies student non completion attrition and failure rates range from 29% to 65% These unacceptably high failure rates have been attributed to wide ranging influences Even so there is consensus that postgraduate supervision represents a critical enabling vehicle for student success Reflections on postgraduate supervision and academic development in an African distance education environment offers a collection of scholarly contributions that focus on critical questions related to the practice of postgraduate supervision from the multiple perspectives of higher education institutions postgraduate students and supervisors The inclusion of contributions from educators and learners in one manuscript makes this a unique text one that should be the mainstay of any scholar engaged in postgraduate studies The manuscript aptly makes the case for recognising that postgraduate preparation and supervision are the most critical contributing factors to the success of postgraduate learners and by inference they represent a significant panacea to many of Africa's social and economic skills

Reflectivity and Cultivating Student Learning Edward G. Pultorak, 2014-07-03 Many educator preparation programs have a teacher reflection component and or model however the current available literature provides little information regarding reflection's impact on teacher performance and student learning Reflectivity and Cultivating Student Learning includes theory research and practice appropriate for teacher educators teacher candidates classroom teachers school administrators and educational researchers This text will be useful for teacher education programs graduate programs in education and professional development for educators The goal of this book is to substantiate the knowledge skills and dispositions that have been used to establish teacher reflectivity as a foundation of teacher education and to advance the acquisition applications and appreciation of teacher reflectivity as a critical aspect of professional growth and development Pultorak and his contributors enrich the literature and provide greater clarity regarding reflectivity s impact on student learning in our global society
