Reflexivity In Film And Literature:

Reflexivity in Film and Literature Robert Stam,1985 Reflexivity refers to those moments in fiction and film when the work suddenly calls attention to itself as a fictional construct For example in literature a character might suddenly step out of the story and address the reader This study of reflexivity in film and literature pays special attention to Don Quixote one of the first such examples of reflexivity in the novel and to Jean Luc Godard and the nouvelle vague in cinema where self reflection prevailed It examines the rise of modernism the complicity of the reader spectator in creating illusion and the production process in film The discussion of film includes Rear Window Tom Jones and The French Lieutenant s Woman

Film David Alan Black,1999 The courtroom like the movie theater is an arena for the telling and interpreting of stories Investigators piece them together witnesses tell them advocates retell them and judges and juries assess their plausibility These narratives reconstitute absent events through words and their filming constitutes a double narrative one important cultural practice rendered in the terms of another Drawing on both film studies and legal scholarship David A Black explores the implications of representing court procedure as well as other phases of legal process in film His study ranges from an inquiry into the common metaphorical ground between film and law explored through the detective and the witness to a critical survey of legal writings about the cinema to close analyses of key films about law In examining multiple aspects of law in film Black sustains a focus on the central importance of narrative while also unearthing the influences pleasure in film power in law that lie beyond the narrative realm Black s penetrating study treats questions of narrative authority and structure social authority and cultural history revealing the underlying historical cultural and cognitive connections between legal and cinematic practices Framing Hitchcock Sidney Gottlieb,Christopher Brookhouse,2002 An engaging look at

Alfred Hitchcock s work from all angles culled from an authoritative source of Hitchcock film commentary In its ten year history the Hitchcock Annual has established itself as a key source of historical information and critical commentary on one of the central figures in film history and arguably one of the most important artists of the twentieth century Fans of Alfred Hitchcock both scholars and general readers alike will be entertained and informed by this selection of writings which offers an overview of the current thinking on the filmmaker and his work The articles span his career and cover a wide range of topics from archeological investigations uncovering new details about his working methods and conditions to incisive analyses of the films themselves The collection begins with rare insights into Hitchcock s early years including his work in Germany and his silent film Easy Virtue which with its metaphoric play on the concept of being framed dramatizes aspects of the human condition to which Hitchcock returned repeatedly Commentators explore a variety of themes including the centrality of kissing shots and sequences in nearly all the films and images of women's handbags as elements of suspense and sexual tension in such films as Dial M for Murder and Psycho. Other essays examine the influence of Vertigo, The Birds and Frenzy on François Truffaut, the remaking of Psycho and feminist interpretations of Shadow of a Doubt. Interviews with Jay Presson Allen and Evan Hunter illuminate Hitchcock's working relationship with screenwriters, actors and actresses. Written by established as well as emerging critics of Hitchcock, this fascinating collection will help shape future appreciation and interpretation of an enormously important and influential filmmaker.

The History of British Literature on Film, 1895-2015 Greg M. Colón Semenza, Robert J. Hasenfratz, 2015-05-21 A comprehensive history of British literature on film analyzing the changing cinematic art and politics of adaptation between the years 1896 and 2010. The Autobiographical Documentary in America Jim Lane, 2002-04-29 Since the late 1960s American film and video makers of all genres have been fascinated with themes of self and identity. Though the documentary form is most often used to capture the lives of others, Jim Lane turns his lens on those media makers who document their own lives and identities. He looks at the ways in which autobiographical documentaries including Roger and Me, Sherman's March and Silverlake Life raise weighty questions about American cultural life. What is the role of women in society? What does it mean to die from AIDS? How do race and class play out in our personal lives? What does it mean to be a member of a family? Examining the history, diversity and theoretical underpinnings of this increasingly popular documentary form, Lane tracks a fundamental transformation of notions of both autobiography and documentary.

Spanish Cinema in the Global Context Samuel Amago, 2013-09-11 Across a broad spectrum of media markets and national contexts, self-reflexivity continues to be a favored narrative mode with wide-ranging functions. In this book, Amago argues that in addition to making visible industry and production concerns within the film text, reflexive aesthetics have a cartographic function that serves to map the place of a film geographically and culturally within the global cinemascapes and thus to bring into sharper relief images of the national. Focusing on films in the contemporary Spanish context that in some way reflect back on themselves and the processes of their own production that purposefully blur the distinction between reality and fiction or that draw attention to the various modes of cinematic exhibition and reception, Amago proposes ways in which these movies can be employed to understand Spanish national cinemas today as imbedded within a dynamic global system.

Film Study Frank Manchel, 1990-10 The four volumes of Film Study include a fresh approach to each of the basic categories in the original edition. Volume one examines the film as film; volume two focuses on the thematic approach to film; volume three draws on the history of film; and volume four contains extensive appendices listing film distributors, sources and historical information as well as an index of authors, titles and film personalities.

Film and Stereotype Jörg Schweinitz, 2011 Since the early days of film critics and theorists have contested the value of formula, cliché, conventional imagery and recurring narrative patterns of reduced complexity in cinema Whether it s the high noon showdown or the last minute rescue a lonely woman standing in the window or two lovers saying goodbye in the rain many films rely on scenes of stereotype and audiences have come to expect them Outlining a comprehensive theory of film stereotype a device as functionally important as it is problematic to a film s narrative J rg Schweinitz constructs a fascinating though overlooked critical history from the 1920s to today Drawing on theories of stereotype in linguistics literary analysis art history and psychology Schweinitz identifies the major facets of film stereotype and articulates the positions of theorists in response to the challenges posed by stereotype He reviews the writing of Susan Sontag Roland Barthes Theodor W Adorno Rudolf Arnheim Robert Musil B la Bal zs Hugo M nsterberg and Edgar Morin and he revives the work of less prominent writers such as Ren F l p Miller and Gilbert Cohen S at tracing the evolution of the discourse into a postmodern celebration of the device Through detailed readings of specific films Schweinitz also maps the development of models for adapting and reflecting stereotype from early irony Alexander Granowski and conscious rejection Robert Rossellini to critical deconstruction Robert Altman in the 1970s and celebratory transfiguration Sergio Leone and the Coen brothers Altogether a provocative spectacle Schweinitz s history reveals the role of film stereotype in shaping processes of communication and recognition as well as its function in growing media competence in audiences beyond cinema
