Regarding Animals Arnold Arluke:

Regarding Animals Arnold Arluke, 2010-06-04 Questioning our conflicting views of the role of animals Brute Force Arnold Arluke, 2004 With little legitimate authority to enforce the law animal police become humane educators who try to make abusers or others they meet on the job into responsible pet owners With few victories in court they discover ways to feel effective in their fight against cruelty And with different preferences for doing police or animal work their department culture tolerates both styles Cynicism is replaced by humane realism In the end Arluke provides an ethnography that is a must read for those who are involved with animal issues including legislators criminologists lawyers researchers and public health officials BOOK JACKET The Oxford Handbook of Animal Studies Linda Kalof, 2017-02-01 Intellectual struggles with the animal question how humans can rethink and reconfigure their relationships with other animals first began to take hold in the 1970s Over the next forty years scholars from a wide range of fields would make sweeping reevaluations of the relationship between humans and other animals The Oxford Handbook of Animal Studies brings these diverse evaluations together for the first time paying special attention to the commodification of animals the degradation of the natural world and a staggering loss of animal habitat and species extinction and the increasing need for humans to coexist with other animals in urban rural and natural contexts Linda Kalof maps these themes into the five major categories that structure this volume Animals in the Landscape of Law Politics and Public Policy Animal Intentionality Agency and Reflexive Thinking Animals as Objects in Science Food Spectacle and Sport Animals in Cultural Representations and Animals in Ecosystems Written by international scholars with backgrounds in philosophy law history English art sociology geography archaeology environmental studies cultural studies and animal advocacy the thirty chapters in this handbook investigate key issues and concepts central to understanding our current relationship with other animals and the potential for coexistence in an ecological community of living beings Animals and Society Margo DeMello, 2021-04-13 Human animal studies is an interdisciplinary field that explores the spaces that animals occupy in human social and cultural worlds It examines the interactions humans and animals have with each other and the ways animal lives intersect with human societies Since existing social orders rely on the exploitation of animals to serve human needs the questions posed by human animal studies touch upon a wide range of fundamental issues Animals and Society provides a broad overview of this rapidly growing field Margo DeMello offers students and scholars a holistic and comprehensive picture of the state of inquiry into the relationships that exist between humans and other animals She considers interactions between animals and humans in social organizations such as the family the legal system and political and religious institutions A major focus is the social construction of animals in world cultures and the way in which these social meanings are used to reinforce and perpetuate hierarchical human relationships such as racism sexism and class privilege The book also examines how different human groups construct a range of identities for themselves and for others through animals This second edition of Animals and Society is fully updated and expanded throughout enhancing the book's relevance for student and activist readers alike. It includes many new international examples, all new case studies and updated supplementary readings.

Animals and Tourism Kevin Markwell, 2015-05-01. This book critically examines the many ways in which tourism and animals intersect, whether as tourist attractions, wildlife conservation tools, as travel companions or as meat to be eaten. It aims to make a meaningful contribution to the growing body of knowledge concerning the relationships between animals, tourists and the tourism industry. The chapters are organised into three themes: ethics and welfare, conflict, contradiction and contestation, and shifting relationships. Theoretically informed and empirically rich, the chapters examine topics such as whale watching, animal performances, the objectification and commodification of animals and stakeholder conflict among a range of others. It is hoped that the book will help to highlight key research questions and stimulate other researchers and students to reflect critically on the place of animals within tourism spaces, experiences, practices and structures.

The Stage Lives of Animals Una Chaudhuri, 2016-10-04. The Stage Lives of Animals examines what it might mean to make theatre beyond the human. In this stunning collection of essays, Una Chaudhuri engages with the alternative modes of thinking, feeling and making art offered by animals and animality, bringing insights from theatre practice and theory to animal studies as well as exploring what animal studies can bring to the study of theatre and performance. As our planet lives through what scientists call the sixth extinction and we become ever more aware of our relationships to other species, Chaudhuri takes a highly original look at the animal imagination of well-known plays, performances and creative projects, including works by Caryl Churchill, Rachel Rosenthal, Marina Zurkow, Edward Albee, Tennessee Williams, Eugene Ionesco. Covering over a decade of explorations, a wide range of writers and many urgent topics, this volume demonstrates that an interspecies imagination deeply structures modern western drama.

Animal Biographies Éric Baratay, 2022-08-15. What would we learn if animals could tell their own stories? Éric Baratay, a pioneering researcher in animal histories in France, applies his knowledge of historical methodologies to give voice to some of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries' most interesting animals. He offers brief yet innovative accounts of these animals' lives in a way that challenges the reader's thinking about animals. Baratay illustrates the need to develop a nonanthropocentric means of viewing the lives of animals and including animals themselves in the narrative of their lives. Animal Biographies launches an all-new investigation into the lives of animals and is a major contribution to the field of animal studies. This English translation of Éric Baratay's Biographies animales: Des Vies retrouvées, originally published in France in 2017, Editions du Seuil, uses firsthand accounts starting from the nineteenth century about specific animals who lived in Europe and the United States to reconstruct as best as possible their stories as they would have experienced them. History is after all not just the domain of humans. Animals have their own. Baratay breaks the model of human exceptionalism to give us the biographies of some of history and literature's most famous animals. The reader will catch a glimpse of storied lives as told by Modestine, the donkey who carried Robert Louis Stevenson through the Alps; Warrior, the World War I horse made famous in Steven Spielberg's War Horse Islero the bull who gored Spain's greatest bullfighter and others Through these stories we discover their histories their personalities and their shared experiences with others of their species Elephant Slaves and Pampered Parrots Louise E. Robbins, 2002-03 Adds a new dimension to our understanding of eighteenth century France by investigating the provenance treatment and fate of exotic animals living in Paris in the 1700s American Historical Review Thinking with Animals Lorraine Daston, Gregg Mitman, 2005 From Victorian vivisectionists to elephant conservation from ancient Indian mythology to pet ownership in the contemporary United States our understanding of both animals and what it means to be human has been shaped by anthropomorphic thinking The contributors to Thinking with Animals explore the how and why of anthropomorphism drawing attention to its rich and varied uses Prominent scholars in the fields of anthropology ethology history and philosophy as well as filmmakers and photographers take a closer look at how deeply and broadly ways of imagining animals have transformed humans and animals alike Animals in Human Histories Mary J. Henninger-Voss, 2002 Table of contents The Scalpel and the Butterfly Deborah Rudacille, 2015-12-15 An engrossing and eloquent study of the history and ethics of animal experimentation The heart of a pig may soon beat in a human chest Sheep cattle and mice have been cloned Slowly but inexorably scientists are learning how to transfer tissues organs and DNA between species Some think this research is moving too far too fast without adequate discussion of possible consequences Is it ethical to breed animals for spare parts When does the cost in animal life and suffering outweigh the potential benefit to humans In precise and elegant prose The Scalpel and the Butterfly explores the ongoing struggle between the promise offered by new research and the anxiety about safety and ethical implications in the context of the conflict between experimental medicine and animal protection that dates back to the mid nineteenth century Deborah Rudacille offers a compelling and cogent look at the history of this divisive topic from the days of Louis Pasteur and the founding of organized anti vivisection in England to the Nazi embrace of eugenics from animal rights to the continuing war between PETA and biomedical researchers and the latest developments in replacing reducing and refining animal use for research and testing Animals, Machines, and AI Erika Quinn, Holly Yanacek, 2021-11-08 Sentient animals machines and robots abound in German literature and culture but there has been surprisingly limited scholarship on non human life forms in German studies This volume extends interdisciplinary research in emotion studies to examine non humans and the affective relationships between humans and non humans in modern German cultural history In recent years fascination with emotions developments in robotics and the burgeoning of animal studies in and beyond the academy have given rise to questions about the nature of humanity Using sources from the life sciences literature visual art poetry philosophy and photography this collection interrogates not animal or machine emotions per se but rather uses animals and machines as lenses through which to investigate human emotions and the affective entanglements between humans and non humans The COVID 19 pandemic made us more keenly aware of the importance of both animals and new technologies in our daily lives and this volume ultimately sheds light on the centrality of non humans in the human emotional world and the possibilities that relationships with non humans offer for enriching that world Watch our talk with the editors Erika Quinn and Holly Yanacek here https://youtu.be/RBMwXah_Om8 Animal Narratology Joela Jacobs,2020-12-15 Animal Narratology interrogates what it means to narrate to speak speak for on behalf of and to voice or represent life beyond the human which is in itself as different as insects bears and dogs are from each other and yet more as individual as a single mouse horse or puma The varied contributions to this interdisciplinary Special Issue highlight assumptions about the human perception of attitude toward and responsibility for the animals that are read and written about thus demonstrating that just as the animal does not exist neither does the human In their zoopoetic focus the analyses are aware that animal narratology ultimately always contains an approximation of an animal perspective in human terms and terminology yet they make clear that what matters is how the animal is approximated and that there is an effort to approach and encounter the non human in the first place Many of the analyses come to the conclusion that literary animals give readers the opportunity to expand their own points of view both on themselves and others by adopting another s perspective to the degree that such an endeavor is possible Ultimately the contributions call for a recognition of the many spaces moments and modes in which human lives are entangled with those of animals one of which is located within the creative bounds of storytelling Recognising and Responding to Animal Emotion in a Shared World Vicki Hutton,2023-11-16 How is it that depending on the setting the same cat can be perceived as a homeless annoyance a potential research subject or a thinking and feeling family member The answer is bound up in our perception of non human animals capacity to experience emotions and this book draws on contemporary evidence based research observations interviews and anecdotal case scenarios to explore the growing knowledge base around animal emotion Acknowledging that animals can experience feelings directly affects the way that they are perceived and treated in many settings and the author explores the implications when humans apply or ignore this knowledge selectively between species and within species This information is presented within the unique context of a proposed hierarchy of perceived non human animals emotional abilities often based on human interpretation of the animal s emotional capacity with examples of how this manifests at an emotional spiritual and moral level Implications for specific groups living with caring for or working with non human animals are examined making the book of particular interest to those working studying or researching in the veterinary professions animal ethics law and welfare and zoology biology and animal science This book will also be fascinating reading for anyone interested in simply learning more about the animals with whom we share this planet For some readers it will validate the reciprocal emotional bond they feel for living creatures For others it will raise questions about the moral treatment of sentient non human beings breaking down the human protective barrier of cognitive dissonance and activating a cycle of change All in the Family Kennan Ferguson,2012-06-19 Ferguson starts with the commonplace assumption within political philosophy that the family provides the ideal model for political association Yet families are not necessarily harmonious units Ferguson takes up several situations to think about how familial attachments can offer insight into the creation of a pluralistic and democratic society

Just a Dog Arnold Arluke, 2006 Argues that in order to understand animal cruelty it is important to understand the social relationships rather than the psychological problem or personality disorders of those involved Maritime Animals Kaori Nagai, 2023-08-31 This volume explores nonhuman animals involvement with human maritime activities in the age of sail as well as the myriad multispecies connections formed across different geographical locations knitted together by the long history of global ship movement Far from treating the ship as a confined space defined by the sea Maritime Animals considers the ship's connections to broader contexts and networks and covers a variety of locations from the Canadian Arctic to the Pacific Islands Each chapter focuses on the oceanic experiences of a particular species from ship vermin animals transported onboard as food and animal specimens for scientific study to livestock companion and working animals deep sea animals that find refuge in shipwrecks and terrestrial animals that hunker down on flotsam and jetsam Drawing on recent scholarship in animal studies maritime studies environmental humanities and a wide range of other perspectives and storytelling approaches Maritime Animals challenges an anthropocentric understanding of maritime history Instead this volume highlights the ways in which species through their interaction with the oceans tell stories and make histories in significant and often surprising ways In addition to the editor the contributors to this volume include Anna Boswell Nancy Cushing Lea Edgar David Haworth Donna Landry Derek Lee Nelson Jimmy Packham Laurence Publicover Killian Quigley Lynette Russell Adam Sundberg and Thom van Dooren Social Creatures Clifton P. Flynn, 2008 Other than human animals are an overwhelming presence in our collective and individual lives and at the same time are taken for granted by human animals Sociologists have neglected the study of human animal interaction and the role of animals in society This is true despite the fact that animals are an integral part of our lives in our language food families economy education science and recreation In more than thirty essays Social Creatures examines the role of animals in human society Collected from a wide range of periodicals and books these important works of scholarship examine such issues as how animal shelter workers view the pets in their care why some people hoard animals animals and women who experience domestic abuse philosophical and feminist analyses of our moral obligations toward animals and many other topics Social Creatures includes work by Peter Singer Tom Regan Carol J Adams Josephine Donovan Barbara Noske Arnold Arluke Ken Shapiro and many leading scholars anthropologists and psychologists The book also comes with an extensive bibliography of hundreds of articles and books

Life on Display Karen A. Rader, Victoria E.M. Cain, 2014-10-03 Rich with archival detail and compelling characters Life on Display uses the history of biological exhibitions to analyze museums shifting roles in twentieth century American science and society Karen A Rader and Victoria E M Cain chronicle profound changes in these exhibitions and the institutions that housed them between 1910 and 1990 ultimately offering new perspectives on the history of museums science and science education Rader and Cain explain why science and natural history museums began to welcome new audiences between the 1900s and the 1920s and chronicle the turmoil that resulted from the introduction of new kinds of biological displays They describe how these displays of life changed dramatically once again in the 1930s and 1940s as museums negotiated changing often conflicting interests of scientists educators and visitors The authors then reveal how museum staffs facing intense public and scientific scrutiny experimented with wildly different definitions of life science and life science education from the 1950s through the 1980s The book concludes with a discussion of the influence that corporate sponsorship and blockbuster economics wielded over science and natural history museums in the century s last decades A vivid entertaining study of the ways science and natural history museums shaped and were shaped by understandings of science and public education in the twentieth century United States Life on Display will appeal to historians sociologists and ethnographers of American science and culture as well as museum practitioners and general readers

Animal Rights/Human Rights David Nibert, 2002-05-28
This accessible and cutting edge work offers a new look at the history of western civilization one that brings into focus the interrelated suffering of oppressed humans and other animals Nibert argues persuasively that throughout history the exploitation of other animals has gone hand in hand with the oppression of women people of color and other oppressed groups He maintains that the oppression both of humans and of other species of animals is inextricably tangled within the structure of social arrangements Nibert asserts that human use and mistreatment of other animals are not natural and do little to further the human condition Nibert s analysis emphasizes the economic and elite driven character of prejudice discrimination and institutionalized repression of humans and other animals His examination of the economic entanglements of the oppression of human and other animals is supplemented with an analysis of ideological forces and the use of state power in this sociological expose of the grotesque uses of the oppressed past and present Nibert suggests that the liberation of devalued groups of humans is unlikely in a world that uses other animals as fodder for the continual growth and expansion of transnational corporations and conversely that animal liberation cannot take place when humans continue to be exploited and oppressed
