Scott Hunter,Scott Hunter,1995 A review for high school students of the core concepts of biology University Technology Transfer Shiri M. Breznitz, Henry Etzkowitz,2017-09-19 Universities have become essential players in the generation of knowledge and innovation Through the commercialization of technology they have developed the ability to influence regional economic growth By examining different commercialization models this book analyses technology transfer at universities as part of a national and regional system It provides insight as to why certain models work better than others and reaffirms that technology transfer programs must be linked to their regional and commercial environments Using a global perspective on technology commercialization this book divides the discussion between developed and developing countries according to the level of university commercialization capability Critical cases as well as country reports examine the policies and culture of university involvement in economic development relationships between university and industry and the commercialization of technology first developed at universities In addition each chapter provides examples from specific universities in each country from a regional national and international comparative perspective This book includes articles by leading practitioners as well as researchers and will be highly relevant to all those with an interest in innovation studies organizational studies regional economics higher education public policy and business entrepreneurship Resources in Education, 1996 The Uses of Diversity Jonathan Kahn, 2025-06-10 Race it is widely understood is a social category that has no genetic basis yet biological notions of race keep reemerging Attempts to redress disparities in biomedical research emphasize recruiting racially representative trial participants Forensic use of DNA evidence purports to pinpoint the race of a potential suspect Genetic ancestry tracing companies explain test results to customers using racial categories The makers of genomic databases seek to ensure racial inclusivity Jonathan Kahn argues that this predicament arises from a surprising source the concept of diversity Ranging across law politics science and medicine he examines the blurring of the distinction between social understandings of race and biological understandings of genetic variation Because diversity has become such a central concept across domains Kahn contends it enables slippage between these contradictory ideas entangling biological and social views of race Tracing the parallel histories of the Human Genome Project workforce diversification efforts U S Supreme Court cases over affirmative action the rise of precision medicine and the COVID 19 vaccine trials among others he shows why diversity is often deployed in ways that threaten to biologize race or undermine efforts to address racial injustice Combining incisive critique and interdisciplinary insight The Uses of Diversity offers a new perspective on one of today's most vexed concepts Proceedings of the Board of Regents University of Michigan. Board of Regents, 1954

Reframing Rights Sheila Jasanoff, 2011-07-22 Investigations into the interplay of biological and legal conceptions of life from government policies on cloning to DNA profiling by law enforcement Legal texts have been with us since the dawn of human history Beginning in 1953 life too became textual The discovery of the structure of DNA made it possible to represent the basic matter of life with permutations and combinations of four letters of the alphabet A T C and G Since then the biological and legal conceptions of life have been in constant mutually constitutive interplay the former focusing on life's definition the latter on life's entitlements Reframing Rights argues that this period of transformative change in law and the life sciences should be considered bioconstitutional Reframing Rights explores the evolving relationship of biology biotechnology and law through a series of national and cross national case studies Sheila Jasanoff maps out the conceptual territory in a substantive editorial introduction after which the contributors offer snapshots of developments at the frontiers of biotechnology and the law Chapters examine such topics as national cloning and xenotransplant policies the politics of stem cell research in Britain Germany and Italy DNA profiling and DNA databases in criminal law clinical trials in India and the United States the GM crop controversy in Britain and precautionary policymaking in the European Union These cases demonstrate changes of constitutional significance in the relations among human bodies selves science and the state
