Norconk, Alfred L. Rosenberger, Paul A. Garber, 2011-06-28 This collection of 29 papers grew out of a symposium entitled Setting the Future Agenda for Neotropical Primates The symposium was held at the Department of Zoological Research National Zoological Park Washington D C on February 26 27 1994 and was sponsored by the Wenner Gren Foundation for Anthropological Research Smithsonian Institution and Friends of the National Zoo We put the symposium together with two objectives to honor Warren G Kinzey for his contributions to the growing field of platyrrhine studies and to provide researchers who work in the Neotropics with the opportunity to discuss recent developments to identify areas of research that require additional study and especially to help guide the next generation of researchers The symposium provided the opportunity to recognize Warren as a mentor and col laborator to the contribution of the study of platyrrhines Contributions to the book were expanded in order to provide a more comprehensive view of platyrrhine evolution and ecology to emphasize the interdisciplinary nature of many of these studies and to high light the central role that New World monkeys play in advancing primatology If this vol ume were to require major revisions after just one more decade of research that would be a fitting testament to Warren s enthusiasm and his drive to continually update the field with new ideas and methods Tributes to Warren and a list of his publications have been published elsewhere Norconk 1994 1996 Rosenberger 1994 1995 Films and Other Materials for Projection Library of Congress, 1978

Human Infancy Daniel G. Freedman, 2016-07-07 Originally published in 1974 this volume is primarily devoted to what is known about human infancy from an ethological evolutionary viewpoint Included are discussions of pan specific traits presumably shared by all infants individual genetic variations on these behaviours as judged by twin studies sex differences presumably shared by infants of all ethnic groups and genetically based ethnic differences However the author favours neither biological determinism nor cultural determinism and does not consider interactionism to be a viable solution Instead a monistic position is taken stressing the inseparability of the innate and the acquired of genetics and environment and of biology and culture The heredity environment issue is tackled head on throughout the volume The interaction between the two an implied dualism is described as a statistical abstraction from measured populations while the position here is that heredity and environment are not separable in any single organism In the same vein the author argues that on logical grounds everything one does every cultural act has within it some biological component
