Burdened by Race Mohamed Adhikari, 2009 Understanding the process and culture of self identification Making Use of History in New South African Fiction Sten Pultz Moslund, 2003 A study of the use of history as political ammunition and literature as historical counter discourse in Mongane Serote's Gods of Our Time Mike Nicol's The Ibis Tapestry and Zakes

Mda's Ways of Dying Moslund shows how literary engagement with the past seeks to rupture the continuity of a strongly dichotomised epistemology and through that dissolve the inherited polarisation of society. Falsification of history is exposed as constructed discourse and past simplifications of reality as sharply demarcated into homogenous self-justifying categorisations of Us against Them are challenged with paradox, doubt and introspection. Ruth First Chris Van Wyk, 2006

Eggs to Lay, Chickens to Hatch Chris van Wyk, 2010-07-01 Agnes the Van Wyks Zulu housekeeper had a special friendship with young Chris in the late sixties to early seventies. He would defend her whenever she came to work with a hangover on a Monday morning and made a mess of the cleaning. In turn Agnes never told on Chris when he played truant from school. As the years passed the two grew closer swapping stories about coloureds and Zulus' life in Riverlea and Soweto, pass laws, politics and falling in love. She taught him to count in Zulu and he promised to teach her to read in English. Whenever the clock ran against her Agnes would stop almost in mid-sentence, grab a broom or cloth and declare 'I have to rush, I have eggs to lay, chickens to hatch.' What an odd ungrammatical thing to say. Chris often mused. But many years later he played a CD by Louis Jordan, a 1940s American jazz singer, and it all became clear: 'Eggs to lay, chickens to hatch.' forthcoming.
end April 2010 is Chris van Wyk's second childhood memoir about growing up in Riverlea and his colourful interactions with the men and women who lived the African proverb that it takes a village to raise a child. But mostly it is the story of a wonderful friendship between a young coloured boy and a Zulu woman. Memory, Narrative and Forgiveness Pumla Gobodo-Madikizela, Chris N van der Merwe, 2009-03-26 The United Nations declaration of 2009 as the International Year of Reconciliation is testimony to the growing use of historical commissions as instruments of reconciliation in post-conflict societies. Since the South African Truth and Reconciliation Commission (TRC) has had a profound impact on international efforts to deal with the aftermath of mass violence and societal conflict, this is an appropriate time for scholars to debate and reflect on the work of the TRC and the wide-ranging scholarship it has inspired across disciplines. With a foreword by Harvard Law Professor Martha Minow, Memory, Narrative and Forgiveness: Perspectives on the Unfinished Journeys of the Past offers readers a front-row seat where a team of scholars draw on both theoretical analysis and case studies from around the world to explore the themes of memory, narrative, forgiveness and apology and how these themes often interact in either mutually supportive or unsettling ways. The book is a vibrant discussion by scholars in philosophy, psychology, psychoanalytic theory, history, literary theory and Holocaust studies. The authors explore the complex interconnected issues of trauma and narrative, testimonial and literary narrative and theatre as narrative, mourning and the potential of forgiveness to heal the enduring effects of mass trauma and transgenerational trauma, memory as a basis for dialogue and reconciliation in divided societies. The authors go well beyond the South African TRC and address a wide range of historical events to explore the possibilities and the challenges that lie on the path of reconciliation and forgiveness between victims, perpetrators and bystanders in societies with a history of violent conflict and unspeakable injustice. The book provides readers with a cohesive theoretically well grounded analysis of the impact of traumatic memories in the personal and communal lives of survivors of trauma It explores how narrative may be creatively applied in processes of healing trauma and how public testimony can often restore the moral balance of societies ravaged by trauma The book deepens understanding of the ways in which lessons from the TRC might be developed and both usefully and cautiously applied in other post conflict situations Mohandas
