Journal of Research of the National Bureau of Standards ,1960 Reflections on the Astronomy of Glasgow David Clarke,2013-05-24 How Astronomy contributed to the educational enlightenment of Glasgow to its society and to its commerce The words Astronomy and Glasgow seem an incongruous juxtaposition and yet the two are closely linked over 500 years of history This is a tale of enlightenment and scientific progress at both institutional and public levels Combined with the ambitions of civic commerce it is a story populated with noteworthy personalities and intense rivalries It is remarkable to realise that the first Astronomy teaching in the Glasgow Colledge presented an Earth centred Universe prior to the Copernican revolution of the mid sixteenth Century Glasgow was later known astronomically for the telescope observations of sunspots made by Wilson in the 1760s but less well known are the ideas related to mono chromaticity within light to dew point and hoar frost and Herschel s discovery of infra red energy in solar radiation by application of Glasgow made thermometers This engrossing and entertaining scientific history includes the story of Glasgow s Big Bang of 1863 the controversy over Astronomer Royal for Scotland and a historical survey of the eight observatories that once populated Glasgow David Clarke brings us a complex weave of science and accompanying social history in this unique and fascinating work

The Course Reflection Project Nicole Schonemann,Emily Metzgar,Andrew Libby,2015-05-01 Service learning is entering a post initiatory phase At tertiary institutions of all types and sizes service learning programs are common and service learning requirements for graduation are growing in popularity Taken together alongside continued faculty interest in effective teaching these factors have raised the visibility and popularity of service learning Now the greater need in service learning is not to prove the need for or efficacy of service learning but to turn the focus squarely back on practice Following established best practice is not enough instructors also need to reflect on how this fits within the specific context and application of each unique course and service learning partnership While there are many excellent resources that detail best practice and showcase exemplary service learning courses faculty reflection and course revision often goes unmentioned In response to the lack of attention on the role of reflection and course revision we convened groups of faculty from a variety of disciplines to reflect deeply on their courses paying specific attention to obstacles and challenges These conversations were converted to articles for this edited collection each chapter representing the process of reflection and revision and serving as a guide to develop effective practice in varied curricular contexts This text contributes to the body of literature on service learning in a unique and practical manner Faculty teaching or interested in teaching service learning classes would benefit from this text as well as university administrators and community service directors involved in service learning at a programmatic and institutional level This book should be marketed to faculty teaching disciplinary service learning classes and service learning pedagogy classes and administrative offices involved in service learning This could be a supplementary text for graduate level pedagogy courses Higher education institutional libraries would benefit from this text as well as the
