Furston was considering running away She was not starry eyed She understood that if she ran away she would be required to become a seamstress a governess or some labor intensive position This did not frighten her Her privileged existence had not rendered her incapable of labor and in fact delighted in helping the servants whenever her father did not take care to notice It was undoubtedly a radical idea to consider but she felt that her father was pushing her to it She could not marry a man her father's age no matter how kind and generous he was She was a believer in romantic love and although she was not seeking to be married she had not ruled out the possibility of falling in love She had seen the way her parents loved each other and she wanted to emulate such a love She had assumed her father would respect those wishes despite his conservatism and it was possible that had her mother lived this might have been true But her father was very changed and very serious about her marrying against her will She had a plan
