Grant, B. Rosemary Grant, 2020-03-31

Charles Darwin's experiences in the Galapagos Islands in 1835 helped to guide his thoughts toward a revolutionary theory that species were not fixed but diversified from their ancestors over many generations and that the driving mechanism of evolutionary change was natural selection In this concise accessible book Peter and Rosemary Grant explain what we have learned about the origin and evolution of new species through the study of the finches made famous by that great scientist Darwin's finches Drawing upon their unique observations of finch evolution over a thirty four year period the Grants trace the evolutionary history of fourteen different species from a shared ancestor three million years ago They show how repeated cycles of speciation involved adaptive change through natural selection on beak size and shape and divergence in songs They explain other factors that drive finch evolution including geographical isolation which has kept the Galapagos relatively free of competitors and predators climate change and an increase in the number of islands over the last three million years which enhanced opportunities for speciation and flexibility in the early learning of feeding skills which helped species to exploit new food resources Throughout the Grants show how the laboratory tools of developmental biology and molecular genetics can be combined with observations and experiments on birds in the field to gain deeper insights into why the world is so biologically rich and diverse Written by two preeminent evolutionary biologists How and Why Species Multiply helps to answer fundamental questions about evolution in the Galapagos and throughout the world Nature ,1883 English Mechanic and World of Science ,1906 The Publisher ,1919 Wing Span ,1997 English Mechanic and Mirror of Science and Art ,1906 The Athenaeum ,1889 Animals ,1966 Student-staff Directory University of Minnesota, 2004 The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record ,1928 The Spectator ,1920 Journal of Gas Lighting and Water Supply ,1926 English Mechanic and Mirror of Science ,1906
