When the study's ethics board at the University of Minnesota gave its final approval, we briefly contacted the participants' supervising faculty to give them some advance notice. We did not discuss the study's purpose, methods, or findings but only told them that we had received approval from the University of Minnesota's Institutional Review Board. We assured participants that we would not discuss the study with their supervisors and that we would not discuss the study with the University of Minnesota's ethics board.
