Kövecses,Réka Benczes,Veronika Szelid,2024-11-04 Anger is one of the basic emotions of human emotional experience informing and guiding many of our choices and actions Although it has received considerable scholarly attention in a number of disciplines including linguistics a basic question has still remained unresolved why do variations in the folk model of anger exist across languages if it is indeed a basic emotion rooted in largely universal bodily experience By drawing on a wide selection of comparable linguistic data from dozens of languages including a number of less researched languages this volume provides the most comprehensive account of what is universal and what is variable in the folk model of anger and why It also investigates the role that metonymies might play in the emergence of anger related metaphors and in what ways context influences or shapes anger metaphors and thereby the resulting folk model of anger No such volume exists in the cognitive linguistic literature on anger or on emotions for that matter The book is thus an essential contribution to the study of anger and will serve as basic reading for any researcher interested in how the conceptualization of anger is constructed via the interplay of bodily experience language and the larger cultural context      The Golden Rule and Odd-fellows

Family Companion ,1847      The Literary World ,1887      Jonah Susan Niditch,2023-01-03 In the new Hermeneia volume the Jonah translation and commentary renowned biblical scholar Susan Niditch encourages the reader to investigate challenging questions about ancient conceptions of personal religious identity Jonah s story is treated as a complex reflection upon the heavy matters of life and death good and evil and human and divine relations The narrative probes an individual s relationship with a demanding deity considers vexing cultural issues of us versus them and examines the role of Israel s god in a universal and international context The author examines the ways in which Jonah prods readers to contemplate these fundamental issues concerning group and self definition In her technical study of Jonah s language style structure content and context Niditch examines the text through the comparative lens of international folklore The thread of appropriations of Jonah by post biblical writers and artists is explored and special attention is paid to rabbinic midrash medieval Jewish manuscript illuminations and Christian art of late antiquity And in the tradition of Hermeneia volumes the commentary evaluates and incorporates the insights of a long legacy of scholars who have explored this venerable text from varied perspectives      Association Medical Journal ,1914      Religion and Revelation Keith Ward,1994-09-30 Since first

Thomas Aquinas defined theology as revelation or the rational elucidation of revealed truth the idea of revelation has played a fundamental role in the history of western theology This book provides a new and detailed investigation of the concept examining its nature sources and limitations in all five of the major scriptural religions of the world Christianity Judaism Islam Hinduism and Buddhism The first part of the book discusses the nature of theology and expounds the comparative method as the most useful and appropriate for the modern age Part Two focuses on the nature of religion and its early historical manifestations whilst the third part of the book goes on to consider the idea of revelation as found in the great canonical traditions of the religions of the world Part Four develops the distinctively Christian idea of revelation as divine self expression in history The final part of the book discusses how far the idea of revelation must be revised or adapted in the light of modern historical and scientific thought and proposes a new and positive theology of revelation for the future The book includes discussions of the work of most major theologians and scholars in the study of religion Aquinas Tillich Barth Temple Frazer and Evans Pritchard and should be of interest to many scholars and students of comparative religion and theology and anthropologists     Asteroid Answers to Ancient Calendar Mysteries Herbert B. Stollorz, 2008-07-03 Ancient calendars found around the world are designed to end one point in time They communicate an urgent warning to everyone alive today Complex bronze and gold clocks with multiple dials are found in museums around the world Why they have such advanced intricacy has stumped scientists for hundreds of years This book reveals why the ancients built so many pyramids observatories as well as those complex gold and bronze clocks with more than one dial It surprised me greatly to discover that their various complex designs in one way or another converge on 21 December 2012 It amazes me that ancient cultures separated by thousands of miles of geography and thousands of years in chronology agree so precisely in the cyclical nature of time history and prophecy which is history written in advance The most famous example is the Mayan Aztec calendar which ends its 25 626 year cycle on that momentous date Some researchers have also found 21 December 2012 in what is called the Bible Code Using very different research methods I discovered it in the Bible s book of Revelation and Daniel s prophecies It is one of the most important dates in the plan of God for all humanity     The Globe Encyclopaedia of

Kniffin, 1885     A Dictionary of Biblical Tradition in English Literature David Lyle Jeffrey, 1992 Over 15 years in the making an unprecedented one volume reference work Many of today s students and teachers of literature lacking a familiarity with the Bible are largely ignorant of how Biblical tradition has influenced and infused English literature through the centuries An invaluable research tool Contains nearly 800 encyclopedic articles written by a distinguished international roster of 190 contributors Three detailed annotated bibliographies Cross references throughout     The Child in Islam Norma Tarazi, 1995 This book is a mothers book not that it can t be read by fathers as well the outgrowth of a mothers study group which met in Kuwait before the Gulf War focused on rearing children in an Islamic way The mothers were mostly American and British converts to Islam although in cosmopolitan Kuwait there were women from many other backgrounds The group was an offshoot of meetings for English speaking Muslim women held weekly in the home of Sister Zainab Ashry in Kuwait for more than ten years prior to the Gulf War. From their knowledge of Islam, the women involved wanted to study the implications of their faith on their child rearing practices. The first step was to collect information, any Qur'anic verse or hadith that a participant found relevant. Other information was collected from such knowledgeable people and books as were available. Monthly discussions were organized on different topics. Since the war, some of the participating sisters have returned to Kuwait, but many of our group are now scattered all over the world. All the notes and papers collected by the study group were in my home in Kuwait when the invasion occurred; fortunately, my husband was able to salvage them and bring them here to our new home in the States. I felt an obligation to compile this collected information to share with other Muslims, especially converts like myself. My deepest thanks must go to my husband whose support and cooperation gave me the means to carry out this task. This book begins with the birth of a child to Muslim parents and the traditional Islamic response to the birth, following the example of Prophet Muhammad. Very few specific actions are defined, and these mostly relate to practices at the time of birth. All of these fall into the category of sunnah, following the Prophet's example or what he approved of in others, and though highly recommended, they are not fard (obligatory) actions. Aside from these few simple practices carried out when a baby comes into the world, Islam has no ceremonies devoted exclusively to children: no first communion, no coming of age celebrations. Children are not segregated into a special world separate from that of adults; they are members of families in the great embracing cycle of human life. The family supports them when they are young; they support the family in their productive years, and in old age they are again supported by the family. They grow and develop gradually in a system that encourages growth and learning but places little emphasis on milestones and anniversaries. A large portion of this book is given to defining relationships from the Qur'an and hadith. To understand the significance of the child in Muslim society, it is necessary to recognize the total number and value of his or her relationships within it, which are different from the relationships defined by other societies. Chapter 1 includes some of the traditions of the Prophet Muhammad that apply to the newborn. Chapter 2 describes the nature of the child's relationship with Allah and the spiritual world, with some suggestions for encouraging spiritual awareness. Chapter 3 contains Qur'anic verses and ahadith relevant to the child's relationship with his or her parents. In light of these definitions and with reference to the Islamic teachings concerning morals, manners, and the purpose of life, an attempt is made in chapters 4, 5, and 6 to present an organized structure dealing with the practical how-to of rearing a child in an Islamic way from a parent's viewpoint. Chapters Introduction, ix, 7, and 8 progressively broaden out the child's world by adding brothers and sisters, extended family, and community relationships. The practical suggestions for improving relationships among adult family members in order to pave the way for improving the child's relations with his or her extended family are an important aspect of chapter 8. The only relationship which really changes for the child as he or she grows up is that of accountability to Allah, since no child is accountable for his or her actions before reaching the age of understanding. All other relationships develop and deepen as the child grows but remain basically the same for the general commands to honor parents show respect to elders be gentle with younger ones and honor family ties continue for a Muslim throughout his or her life I pray to Allah that this book may bring only good to mothers and their children and that He protect them from any mistakes or misunderstandings I have done my best to prepare the material contained within it in a suitable manner and hope to see other literature published on this important subject expanding and enriching it While I alone am responsible for the contents I am deeply indebted to the many sisters who helped collect references and discussed the practical implications of our findings I have no list to prompt me and consequently may have unwittingly forgotten some names but I well remember Terry Lianna Salma Noura Mia Khadijah Sandra Hicleir Debbie Sara Maryam Aneesah Dianne Karen Kauthar and Nawal from Kuwait all of us working together on this project My friend Daaiyah Saleem in Ohio has also been very helpful offering many suggestions for improvement and clarification as she aided in proofreading My sister in law Ghada of course has helped along the way In the course of preparing this book for publication sister Zeba Siddiqui was chosen by the publisher to edit the text I have known Zeba a mother of four and a grandmother and author of several excellent childrens books as well as the THE CHILD IN ISLAM Parent s Manual A Guide for Muslim Parents Living in North America for several years When I heard she had taken on this task I asked her to add anything she felt was missing from her years of experience and knowledge of the subject She has supplied all of the hadith reference numbers in the text in itself an enormous task In addition to editing she has filled out and amplified several topics checking and adding material where needed The sections on the Hereafter tahara respect for religion and hospitality are prepared and written by her It was only fair therefore that her name should appear on the title page of this book in recognition of her valuable contribution I am deeply grateful to her for her help and input I also need to thank my children who suffered through my learning experience and projects for self improvement in parenting skills and my mother whose life long interest in the growth and development of children helped me understand the importance of the matter and the need for a book such as this A final note to the book s non Muslim readers I have chosen to use the word Allah throughout the book instead of the word God The words are interchangeable in English for Muslims but all of the women involved in this project have the habit indeed they have the love of referring to God the God of Abraham Moses Jesus and Muhammad by His Arabic name Allah
