Budget 2010 Great Britain. Treasury, 2010-03-24 The Budget sets out the Government's plans for taxation public spending and economic growth for the coming year Details announced include an annual growth rate of 2.5 per cent for 2006-07 with a forecast of 2.75 to 3.25 per cent for 2007-08 an inflation rate of two per cent this year and public sector borrowing on course for a 16 billion surplus over the economic cycle ending in 2010-11 with net borrowing set at 37 billion for this year and 36 billion next year falling to 23 billion in the year to 2010-11 The Politics of Budgetary Surplus Scott

Brenton, 2016-11-04 This book probes the hollow rhetoric of debt deficits and austerity It explores the decisions of parties of the left which have attempted to deflect criticisms of economic mismanagement and gain trust by depoliticising the budget process and financial management with various rules albeit with elements of discretion The book argues that this is a perverse form of trust as it is premised on the belief that political leaders and the public sector cannot be trusted to make appropriate decisions given the economic circumstances of the time and need rules but at the same time that they can be trusted to follow the rules The book also explores parties of the right which often advocate stricter rules and which tend to be the least effective The book describes how few conservative governments have admirable records on sustained surpluses given a propensity for unsustainable tax cuts and the future opportunities this provides to advance a political program of deeper spending cuts

The Stationery Office Annual Catalogue 2011 Stationery Office,2012-04-12 The Stationery Office annual catalogue 2011 provides a comprehensive source of bibliographic information on over 4900 Parliamentary statutory and official publications from the UK Parliament the Northern Ireland Assembly and many government departments and agencies which were issued in 2011 After the Third Way Olaf Cramme,Patrick Diamond,2012-02-28 The social democratic parties were once the strongest political forces in Europe Today however they appear disorientated and rudderless crucially lacking the ideological intellectual and organisational vitality which underpinned their strength in the post war political landscape Electorally marginalised seemingly ideologically exhausted and often out of step with the contemporary zeitgeist European social democracy is currently in profound need of revision and renewal potentially its very existence as a political force is under threat This book marks a serious attempt to forge the intellectual backbone of a renewed social democracy fit for the twenty first century Bringing together leading academics political thinkers and policy experts it offers a new and original perspective on ideological and policy innovation and will be invaluable reading for anyone interested in the future of social democracy Fixing Fuel Poverty Brenda Boardman,2013-05-13 Since its publication in the early 90s Brenda Boardman's Fuel Poverty has been the reference text for those wishing to learn about this complex subject In this its successor she turns a critical eye to the new millennium and finds that the situation while now more widely recognised is far from having improved The book begins by discussing the political awakening to the issue and exploring just who constitutes the fuel poor It examines the factors that contribute to fuel poverty low incomes high fuel prices and poor quality housing and looks at and evaluates the policies that have been employed to help reduce the problem The latter part presents a detailed set of proposals based around long term improvements in the housing stock that must be employed if we are to avoid a dire situation continuing to get worse Based on detailed analysis of the situation in the UK the growth of fuel poverty sometimes called energy poverty in other countries and the new focus in European policy makes the book timely and provides important lessons for those who now have to produce policies to tackle the issues Sport in the UK Leona Trimble,Babatunde Buraimo,Clint Godfrey,David Grecic,Sue Minten,2010-03-24 This is a comprehensive introduction for HE students to the provision organisation and governance of sport in the UK Supported by case study material it introduces the reader to key government policies and to the ways in which public private and voluntary sectors provide sporting opportunities The book focuses on issues of participation employment media coverage and commercialisation and critically examines them in light of the key themes of equality and diversity Pedagogical features learning outcomes and learning activities help students develop an active approach to the study of sport in the UK The Stationery Office Annual Catalogue Stationery Office (Great Britain),2016 Britannica Book of the Year 2009 Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc.,2009-03-01 The Britannica Book of the Year 2009 provides a valuable veiwpoint of the people and events that shaped the year and serves as a great reference source for the latest news on the ever changing populations governments and economies throughout the world It is an accurate and comprehensive reference that you will reach for again and again Mental Health and Care Homes Tom Denning,Alisoun Milne,2011-05-26 The care home sector is large with over 400 000 residents in the UK and a similar number employed within the homes It is therefore an area of considerable economic importance Care home residents are often very old and many have multiple physical and mental health needs meaning that their care poses particular challenges They are also a distinctly and profoundly marginalised group who are often invisible in the wider debates on quality of care including those about care homes Mental Health and Care Homes is a coherent and evidence based text exploring these issues Bringing together both clinical and research perspectives it will help those working in the care home sector to deliver high quality care and support to both residents and staff This important yet neglected area is thoroughly reviewed by a range of experts including residents family carers staff researchers and clinicians The book has four sections the inside view which includes several first hand accounts of care home life the outside view which discusses the regulatory funding and legislative context in which care homes operate mental health and care a detailed review of the major mental and other health issues that arise in care homes as well as interventions and services to offer support and a section exploring the promotion of health and wellbeing including examples of good practice It concludes by synthesising key themes and setting an agenda for further enquiry The book is written in a style that encourages engagement with the inclusion of contemporary case studies and examples making it topical and readable It will be valuable for a broad professional and vocational audience across both health and social care as well as students and researchers Sustainable Development Law in the UK Andrea

Ross, 2013-03-01 Sustainable development is now widely accepted as a political objective in the UK and elsewhere but to what extent has the UK's rhetoric on sustainable development become a reality? The aim of this book is to critically examine the UK's approach to promoting and delivering sustainable development. It begins by providing a detailed account of UK law on sustainable development by reviewing the various policy, institutional and legal mechanisms used by the UK since the 1980s and by devolved administrations since devolution took effect in 1999. Progress has been slow, too slow, and according to the scientists, time is running out. To deal with this lack of progress, the book advocates increasing the status of ecological sustainability and sustainable development through the introduction of a wide range of legal mechanisms which would compel the change needed. The book calls for ecological sustainability or respecting the Earth's environmental limits to be afforded the status of legal principle and argues that with ecological sustainability at its normative core, sustainable development could provide an effective framework for decision making and governance. It argues that to support this approach and ensure consistency, the time has come for sustainable development to receive explicit legal backing. Over and above its symbolic and educational value, legislation can impose mandatory rules on policymakers and decision makers often with meaningful consequences both inside and outside the courtroom. To this end, the book contributes to the theory on sustainable development governance by suggesting three possible legislative approaches for such intervention. The volume concludes that while a lack of leadership on sustainable development may hinder the introduction of these innovations, once introduced, these innovations would equally provide much needed support for effective leadership towards a sustainable future. Andrea Ross is a Reader in the School of Law at the University of Dundee and has taught and researched in the areas of public and environmental law for over 18 years. Before becoming an academic, she qualified as a Barrister and Solicitor in Ontario, Canada. Provided by publisher. Managing financial resources to deliver public services Great Britain: National Audit Office, 2008-02-20 This report examines the management of financial resources to deliver better public services effectively. Divided into four parts with appendices, it looks at the following areas: Part 1 The importance of managing financial resources; Part 2 Developing the skills and awareness necessary for effective financial resource management; Part 3 Improving departments' use of techniques and practices for managing financial resources; Part 4 The impact of improved management and financial resources. Financial resource management is relevant to every aspect of a Government department's business. By 2010/11, central government spending is forecast to grow to 678 billion, which represents 11,000 for every person in the UK. The NAO has set out a number of findings and recommendations, including that the lack of financial skills and awareness amongst non-finance staff remains a significant barrier to improving the management of financial resources across government, that some departments lack a qualified Finance Director at Board level that senior managers in many departments are not provided with incentives to promote sound management of financial resources that Departments could do more to improve their forecasting capabilities that some Departments are not sufficiently well placed to integrate financial and operational performance information that many Departments do not always ensure the full assessment of the financial implications of policy proposals
