Sustainable Management of Invasive Pests in Africa Saliou Niassy, Sunday Ekesi, Lorna Migiro, Washington Otieno, 2020-07-13 Invasive species generally affect economically important crops thus affecting the livelihoods of millions of people along crop value chains Typically invasive species have high migratory capabilities and because of plant material exchanges made during trade they cannot be contained by one country Usually African countries react after a pest has invaded and established itself in the country making the cost of mitigating the pest even more expensive This book presents a pan African view of the impacts of invasive insect pests on agriculture and of how invasive species impact on productivity in Africa It not only describes their importance but also presents a diversity of research findings in the field ranging from the use of early warning and monitoring systems for quarantine purposes agricultural extension all the way to control strategies The IPM arsenal presented in this book includes the use of botanical bioactive compounds semiochemicals resistant varieties biological control agents such as entomopathogens endophytes predators and natural enemies Aspects of technology transfer strategies regional coordination and farmers perceptions have not been overlooked because these affect the adoption of mitigation strategies The book also presents measures that would help agricultural research services to estimate the damage and take actions for preparedness and readiness to face invasive insect pests This starts with a basic knowledge of taxonomy to enable concerned persons to describe the insects and the vast inventory of affected crops Physiological and ecological aspects of invasive pests are strongly highlighted to strengthen Integrated Pest Management Strategies The threat of invasive species will remain permanent therefore the book encourages knowledge exchange and collaboration between researchers and scientists on the continent while encouraging the establishment of a platform or a fund for preparedness and rapid response

Handbook of Research on Coping Mechanisms for First-Year Students Transitioning to Higher Education Aloka, Peter, Mukuna, Kananga Robert, 2023-02-20 Transitioning from secondary to higher education is not a natural step for many first year students in higher education institutions There is a considerable difference between being a student at school and university and previous research has highlighted the difficulties faced by first year university students during their transition phase Higher education institutions and their departments acknowledge the challenges faced by new students and they differ in their approach to coping with the issue each seeks to find the most effective solution for its students To reduce the withdrawal rate during the first year of college higher education providers are expected to apply transition programs to help students transition The Handbook of Research on Coping Mechanisms for First Year Students Transitioning to Higher Education presents a comprehensive account of the dynamics in higher education institutions and culture shock for new students and analyzes models and theories of adjustment of new students in higher education institutions Covering key topics such as gender institutional support and success factors this reference work is ideal for administrators higher education professionals researchers scholars academicians practitioners instructors and students

Creating the New African University, 2023-05-25 Creating the New African University grapples with the existence of African universities particularly in post independent Africa where Higher Education Institutions HEIs are supposed to live up to the expectations of being adaptive in dealing with prevalent complex dynamic contemporary and future challenges facing African societies The book tackles the issue of what ought to be done for African universities to maintain a structure and identity that ensures their relevance in Africa s development through generating and transforming knowledge into actions for the common good It engages issues within the context of how post colonial transformative obligations have been managed in light of the prevalent epistemological and pedagogical underpinnings that form the foundations of these universities as they seek to break from the clutches of colonial legacies This book further highlights an urgent need to do away with silos and embrace a multidisciplinary interdisciplinary transdisciplinary and cross disciplinary dialogical approach towards knowledge generation Such an approach is essential in efforts aimed at enhancing the sustainable reconfiguration of university structures and functions whilst linking knowledge produced to diverse social economic and political facets of African societies in ways that promote and sustain competitiveness in a rapidly globalising world beset with technological advancements Religion and World Civilizations Andrew Holt,2023-06-30 An indispensable resource for readers investigating how religion has influenced societies and cultures this three volume encyclopedia assesses and synthesizes the many ways in which religious faith has shaped societies from the ancient world to today Each volume of the set focuses on a different era of world history ranging through the ancient medieval and modern worlds Every volume is filled with essays that focus on religious themes from different geographical regions For example volume one includes essays considering religion in ancient Rome while volume three features essays focused on religion in modern Africa This accessible layout makes it easy for readers to learn more about the ways that religion and society have intersected over the centuries as well as specific religious trends events and milestones in a particular era and place in world history Taken as a whole this ambitious and wide ranging work gathers more than 500 essays from more than 150 scholars who share their expertise and knowledge about religious faiths tenets people places and events that have influenced the development of civilization over the course of recorded human history
