career researchers conduct studies that move our field forward and grow our knowledge base Deborah J Short Ph D Director Academic Language Research Training Past President TESOL International Association 2021 22 As a teacher in graduate programs in TESOL I frequently come across the frustration of students at centering their research interests on a particular topic and developing research questions which are worth pursuing so as to make a contribution to the field This frustration stems from the fact that our field is so vast and interrelated that it is often impossible to properly address all that interests them Hence I wholeheartedly welcome this most relevant and innovative addition to the research literature in the field of TESOL and Applied Linguistics Coombe and Mohebbi have created a real tour de force that stands to inform budding researchers in the field for many years to come Additionally the cutting edge depiction of the field and all it has to offer will no doubt update the research agendas of many seasoned researchers around the world The 150 chapters are organized in a most powerful yet deceptively simple way offering a positioning within the topic suggesting questions that might direct inquiry and offering a basic set of bibliographic tools to start the reader in the path towards research What is more the nine sections in which the chapters are organized leave no area of the field unexplored Dr Gabriel D az Maggioli Academic Advisor Institute of Education Universidad ORT del Uruguay President IATEFL Chapter Metacognition in Academic Writing Learning Dimensions is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0 International License via link springer com        Fundamental Considerations in Technology Mediated Language Assessment Karim Sadeghi,Dan Douglas,2023-04-27 Fundamental Considerations in Technology Mediated Language Assessment aims to address issues such as how the forced integration of technology into second language assessment has shaped our understanding of key traditional concepts like validity reliability washback authenticity ethics fairness test security and more Although computer assisted language testing has been around for more than two decades in the context of high stakes proficiency testing much of language testing worldwide has shifted to at home mode and relies heavily on the mediation of digital technology making its widespread application in classroom settings in response to the COVID 19 outbreak unprecedented Integration of technology into language assessment has brought with it countless affordances and at the same time challenges both theoretically and practically One major theoretical consideration requiring attention is the way technology has contributed to a reconceptualization of major assessment concepts constructs There is very limited literature available on the theoretical underpinnings of technology mediated language assessment This book aims to fill this gap This book will appeal to academic specialists practitioners or professionals in the field of language assessment advanced and or graduate students and a range of scholars or professionals in disciplines like educational technology applied linguistics and teaching English to speakers of other languages TESOL        Learning-Oriented Language Assessment Atta Gebril,2021-05-11 This collection brings together research on learning oriented language assessment from scholars working across geographic and educational contexts highlighting the opportunities of assessment practices which seek to better align assessment and learning tasks and support effective learning The volume begins by introducing learning oriented assessment LOA and the context around its growing popularity especially in accountability oriented settings which favor summative large scale tests The first part of the book charts the development of LOA s theoretical and conceptual underpinnings outlining the ways in which they have been informed by theories of learning and key elements The second part demonstrates LOA in practice drawing on examples from different countries and instructional settings to explore such topics as the role of technology in LOA and developing feedback materials based around LOA principles and developed for core literacy skills Offering a holistic view of learning oriented assessment and the real world affordances and challenges of its implementation this book is key reading for graduate students researchers and practitioners in language testing and assessment TESOL and language education Washback Research in Language Assessment David Allen,2025-08-13 Washback is understood as the effect tests have on teaching and learning with positive washback producing intended outcomes and negative washback generating unintended effects By surveying the latest developments in the field and charting future directions this collection offers a comprehensive treatment of research on washback in the field of language assessment The book contains chapters exploring fundamental aspects of washback including the impact by design approach theoretical models validity frameworks research designs and methods Additional chapters examine washback across various assessment contexts covering migration related proficiency tests formative and standards based assessments multilingual and professional language assessments and the role of technology including computer based testing and AI The book also surveys washback research in primary secondary and higher mainstream education and shadow education with a focus on English learning in Asian contexts This book will be of interest to scholars and stakeholders in language testing and assessment educational measurement and applied linguistics

Authenticity across Languages and Cultures Leo Will,Wolfgang Stadler,Irma Eloff,2022-11-10 This volume centres around concepts of personal and cultural authenticity as they play out in various contexts of foreign language teaching and learning worldwide The chapters cover a wide range of contexts and disciplines including both theoretical and empirical work together they comprise both a rigorous analysis of authenticity in language teaching and a step away from notions of native speakerism and cultural essentialism with which it is often associated Written by a group of scholars working across several continents the chapters offer diverse perspectives regarding the role language plays in processes of personal growth learning development self actualisation and power dynamics The book addresses the theoretical and philosophical nature of authenticity while remaining grounded in the teaching and learning of languages with authenticity viewed as a practical concern that guides our actions and beliefs The book will be of interest to scholars researchers and students of authenticity as well as foreign language teachers interested in the theoretical underpinnings of their practice Ethics and Context in Second Language Testing M. Rafael Salaberry,Albert Weideman,Wei-Li Hsu,2023-11-24 This innovative timely text introduces the theory and research of critical approaches to language assessment foregrounding ethical and socially contextualized concerns in language testing and language test validation in today s globalized world The editors bring together diverse perspectives qualitative and quantitative methodologies and empirical work on this subject that speak to concerns about social justice and equity in language education from languages and contexts around the world offering an overview of key concepts and theoretical issues and field advancing suggestions for research projects This book offers a fresh perspective on language testing that will be an invaluable resource for advanced students and researchers of applied linguistics sociolinguistics language policy education and related fields as well as language program administrators

Teacher Involvement in High-Stakes Language Testing Daniel Xerri,Patricia Vella Briffa,2018-04-27 This book advocates that teachers should play an active role in high stakes language testing and that more weight should be given to teacher judgement This is likely to increase the formative potential of high stakes tests and provide teachers with a sense of ownership The implication is that the knowledge and skills they develop by being involved in these tests will feed into their own classroom practices The book also considers the arguments against teacher involvement e g the contention that teacher involvement might entrench the practice of teaching to the test or that teachers should not be actively involved in high stakes language testing because their judgement is insufficiently reliable Using contributions from a wide range of international educational contexts the book proposes that a lack of reliability in teacher judgement is best addressed by means of training and not by barring educators from participating in high stakes language testing It also argues that their involvement in testing helps teachers to bolster confidence in their own judgement and develop their assessment literacy Moreover teacher involvement empowers them to play a role in reforming high stakes language testing so that it is more equitable and more likely to enhance classroom practices High stakes language tests that adopt such an inclusive approach facilitate more effective learning on the part of teachers which ultimately benefits all their students Challenges and Innovations in Speaking Assessment Larry Davis,John M. Norris,2024-09-19 The assessment of second language speaking ability has played a central role in the evolution of language testing theory and practice Educational Testing Service ETS has been a primary innovator in all dimensions of speaking assessment since the 1970s addressing critical challenges through the advent of new test designs scoring practices and measurement technologies to make especially large scale standardized testing of speaking ability a reality This volume presents a sample of key ETS research and development efforts related to speaking assessment over the years The contributors highlight diverse contributions to conceptualizing the speaking construct designing speaking test tasks scoring speech samples marshalling technologies for test delivery and automated scoring and developing end to end speaking assessment procedures The first part emphasizes how some of the earliest large scale speaking assessments were designed and put into practice The second part features research and development related to speaking assessments in the TOEIC and TOEFL testing suites emphasizing their validity and scoring The third part introduces research based innovations in testing new and more nuanced speaking constructs and in using automated scoring of speech to address diverse assessment needs The volume will appeal to language testing professionals and test score users in illuminating how ETS has influenced the development of speaking assessment as well as pointing to multiple directions for future research and practice
