The book brings together a group of scholars from different parts of the world looking at the impact of neoliberalism on societies. And as such it contributes as much to the critique and overcoming of this process as to its analysis. With its extensive coverage both geographically and thematically, the book will be of interest for students of the social sciences as well as for anyone making an effort to understand and change the world.

Is religion rooted in expressions? How are experiences and expressions related? The contributors to this international and interdisciplinary compilation explore the possibilities and the impossibilities of a hermeneutics of religion. Combining theology and philosophy with biblical, cultural, historical and literary studies, they examine how religious experiences and religious expressions have been entangled in the past and in the present. These entanglements call for interdisciplinary conversations in which those who study experiences and those who study expressions can learn from each other in order to carve out important and instructive spaces for the study of religion.
