Cumulative Index ,1994 Albany Law Journal ,1893 Environmental and Energy Law Karen Makuch,Ricardo Pereira,2012-10-01 Despite bringing prosperity industrialisation generally leads to increasing levels of pollution which has a detrimental impact on the environment In response legislation which seeks to control or prevent such impact has become common Similarly climate change and energy security have become major drivers for the regulatory regimes that have emerged in the energy field Given the global or regional scope of many environmental problems international cooperation is often necessary to ensure such legislation is effective The EU and the UK have contributed to the development of the environmental and energy law regimes currently in force spanning across international transnational and national levels At the same time practical responses to environmental and energy problems have largely been the focus of engineers scientists and other technical experts Environmental Energy Law attempts to bridge the knowledge gap between legal developments designed to achieve environmental and or energy related objectives and the practical scientific and technical considerations applicable to the same environmental problems In particular it attempts to convey a broad range of topical issues in environmental and energy law from climate and energy regulation technology innovation and transfer to pollution control environmental governance and enforcement In addition the book outlines key sector specific legal regimes including water waste and air quality management focusing on issues or topics that are particularly relevant to both environmental and energy lawyers and engineering science and technology oriented professionals and students In this vein the book guides the reader on some basic practical applications of the law within scientific engineering and other practical settings The book will be useful to all those working or studying in the environmental or energy arena including law students legal professionals engineering and science students and professionals By adopting a multi disciplinary approach to environmental and energy law the book embraces all readerships and helps to address the often thorny problem of communication between scientists engineers lawyers and policy makers The Albany Law Journal ,1893 Setting a Standard for Namibia's Children ,1996 Human Rights Dakas C. J. Dakas,Nankin Bagudu,2004 What we learn and when we learn it: sensitive periods in development Etienne De Villers-Sidani, Virginia Penhune,2014-11-21 The impact of training or experience is not the same at all points in development Children who receive music lessons or learn a second language before age 7 8 are more proficient as adults Early exposure to drugs or trauma makes people more likely to become addicted or depressed later life Rat pups exposed to specific frequencies from 9 13 days post partum show expanded cortical representations of these frequencies Young birds must hear and copy their native song within 1 2 months of birth or they may never learn it at all These are examples of sensitive periods developmental windows where maturation and specific experience interact to produce differential long term effects on the brain and behavior While still controversial evidence for the existence of sensitive periods has grown as has our understanding of the underlying mechanisms of brain plasticity Behavioral evidence from studies of language psychopathology or vision in humans has been complemented by evidence elucidating molecular gene and hormonal mechanisms in animals It has been proposed that sensitive periods can be both opened and closed by specific experience and that there are multiple overlapping sensitive periods that occur through out development as functions come on line It is also likely that experience dependent behavioral or brain plasticity accrued during one sensitive period can serve as a scaffold on which later experience and plasticity can build Based on current knowledge there are a number of broad questions and challenges to be addressed in this domain these include generating new information about the neurobiological mediators of structural and functional changes proposing models of brain development that will better predict when sensitive periods should occur and what functions are implicated investigation of the interaction between experience during a sensitive period and pre existing individual differences and the relationship between experience during a sensitive period and on going experience The goal of this Research Topic is to bring together scientists in different fields whose work addresses these issues including animal and human developmental neuroscience language and cognitive development education developmental psychopathology and sensory neuroscience
