Children and Youth Through Spiritual Education Kirmani, Mubina Hassanali, Chapman, Amy L., Steele, Barbara M., Moallem, Mahnaz, Schroth, Stephen T., 2023-07-17 Across academic circles over the last few decades the interest and inquiry on spirituality continues to broaden. Currently the school system in the United States and many Western countries put their focus on academic achievement at the expense of preparing their students' inner cores for skills they will need to deal with a more complex and challenging world to come. Supporting Children and Youth Through Spiritual Education provides a platform for researchers and experts in the field of spirituality in children and youth to voice the urgent need for an educational system that truly nurtures the whole child. The book also considers the need to remove the misunderstandings about the terms spirituality and religion among those who work directly with children and youth. Covering key topics such as religion, cognitive development and spiritual needs, this reference work is critical for principals, administrators, industry professionals, researchers, scholars, practitioners, academicians, instructors and students. Principles and Practice to Help Young Children Belong Estelle Tarry, 2024-12-16 This vital resource for early years and primary school trainees and practitioners explores a range of social and therapeutic strategies and interventions that will successfully support all children's sense of belonging. A sense of belonging is vital to children's physical, emotional, psychological, mental health and wellbeing. This book considers social and therapeutic strategies and interventions that support all children's sense of belonging and can be adopted by practitioners. It addresses the interrelated factors that impact children's sense of belonging such as race, gender, expression of sexual orientation, religion and disabilities. It will help develop practitioners' awareness of current social and educational issues including LGBT topics, the changing family unit, relationships, misogyny and toxic masculinity, meditation and mindfulness as well as the importance of children connecting with nature and transformative activism. The chapters adopt a theoretical and practical approach, presenting case studies of good practice which will create positive and inclusive outcomes supporting individual growth and community wellbeing. An essential reading for practitioners including teachers, teaching assistants, continuing professional development, lecturers and social workers working in early years and primary educational settings, this book would also be suitable as a core and supportive text for students studying on a variety of undergraduate degree courses within the scope of education, pedagogy, mental health and wellbeing, social work and child development.

Fortin's Children's Rights and the Developing Law Rachel E. Taylor, 2024-02-29 The notion that children constitute an important group of rights holders has gained increasing acceptance both domestically and internationally. Nevertheless, this rhetorical commitment to children's rights is not necessarily realised in practice. Now in its fourth edition, Fortin's Children's Rights and the Developing Law explores the extent to which law and policy in England promotes or undermines the rights of children. Fully revised and updated, this textbook uses current research on child development and welfare to reflect on the extent to which the law fulfils children's rights in a wide range of areas including medical law, education and child poverty. These developments are measured against the domestic law and the UK's international obligations under for example the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child Cyclopaedia Bibliographica James Darling, 1859 The United States Catalog , 1928 The United States Catalog Supplement, January 1918-June 1921 Eleanor E. Hawkins, 1921 The United States Catalog; Books in Print January 1, 1912 Marion Effie Potter, 1921 Religion, Education and Human Rights Anders Sjöborg, Hans-Georg Ziebertz, 2017-04-13 This book examines the interconnectedness between religion education and human rights from an international perspective using an interdisciplinary approach It deals with compulsory or secondary school education in different contexts as well as higher education and has as its common theme the multiplicity of secularisms in different national contexts Presenting rich cases the contributions include empirical and theoretical perspectives on how international trends of migration and cultural diversity as well as judicialization of social and political processes and rapid religious and social changes come into play as societies find their way in an increasingly diverse context The book contains chapters that present case studies on how confessional or non confessional Religious Education RE at schools in different societal contexts is related to the concept of universal human rights It presents cases studies that display an intriguing array of problems that point to the role of religion in the public sphere and show that historical contexts play important and different roles Other contributions deal with higher education where one questions how human rights as a concept and as discourse is taught and examines whether withdrawing from certain clinical training when in university education to become a medical doctor or a midwife on the grounds of conscientious objections can be claimed as a human right From a judicial point of view one chapter discerns the construction of the concept of religion in the Swedish Education Act in relation to the Swedish constitution as well European legislation Finally an empirical study comparing data from young people in six different countries in three continents investigates factors that explain attitudes towards human rights
